

MANITOBAH®
MUKLUKS*

2020 COLLECTION

Our Vision

As an Indigenous-owned company, our vision is to build a vibrant, global brand that makes a significant impact in Indigenous communities.

Thank you for walking with us.

The Original Winter Boot

Mukluk is an Indigenous word for winter boot. Our ancestors created mukluks thousands of years ago to survive and thrive in the coldest places on Earth.

Today we're proud to continue the tradition.

1630

The North American fur trade leads to the birth of a new people – the Métis.

1630-
1870

The Métis establish their own identity, with traits of both Indigenous and European people.

1870

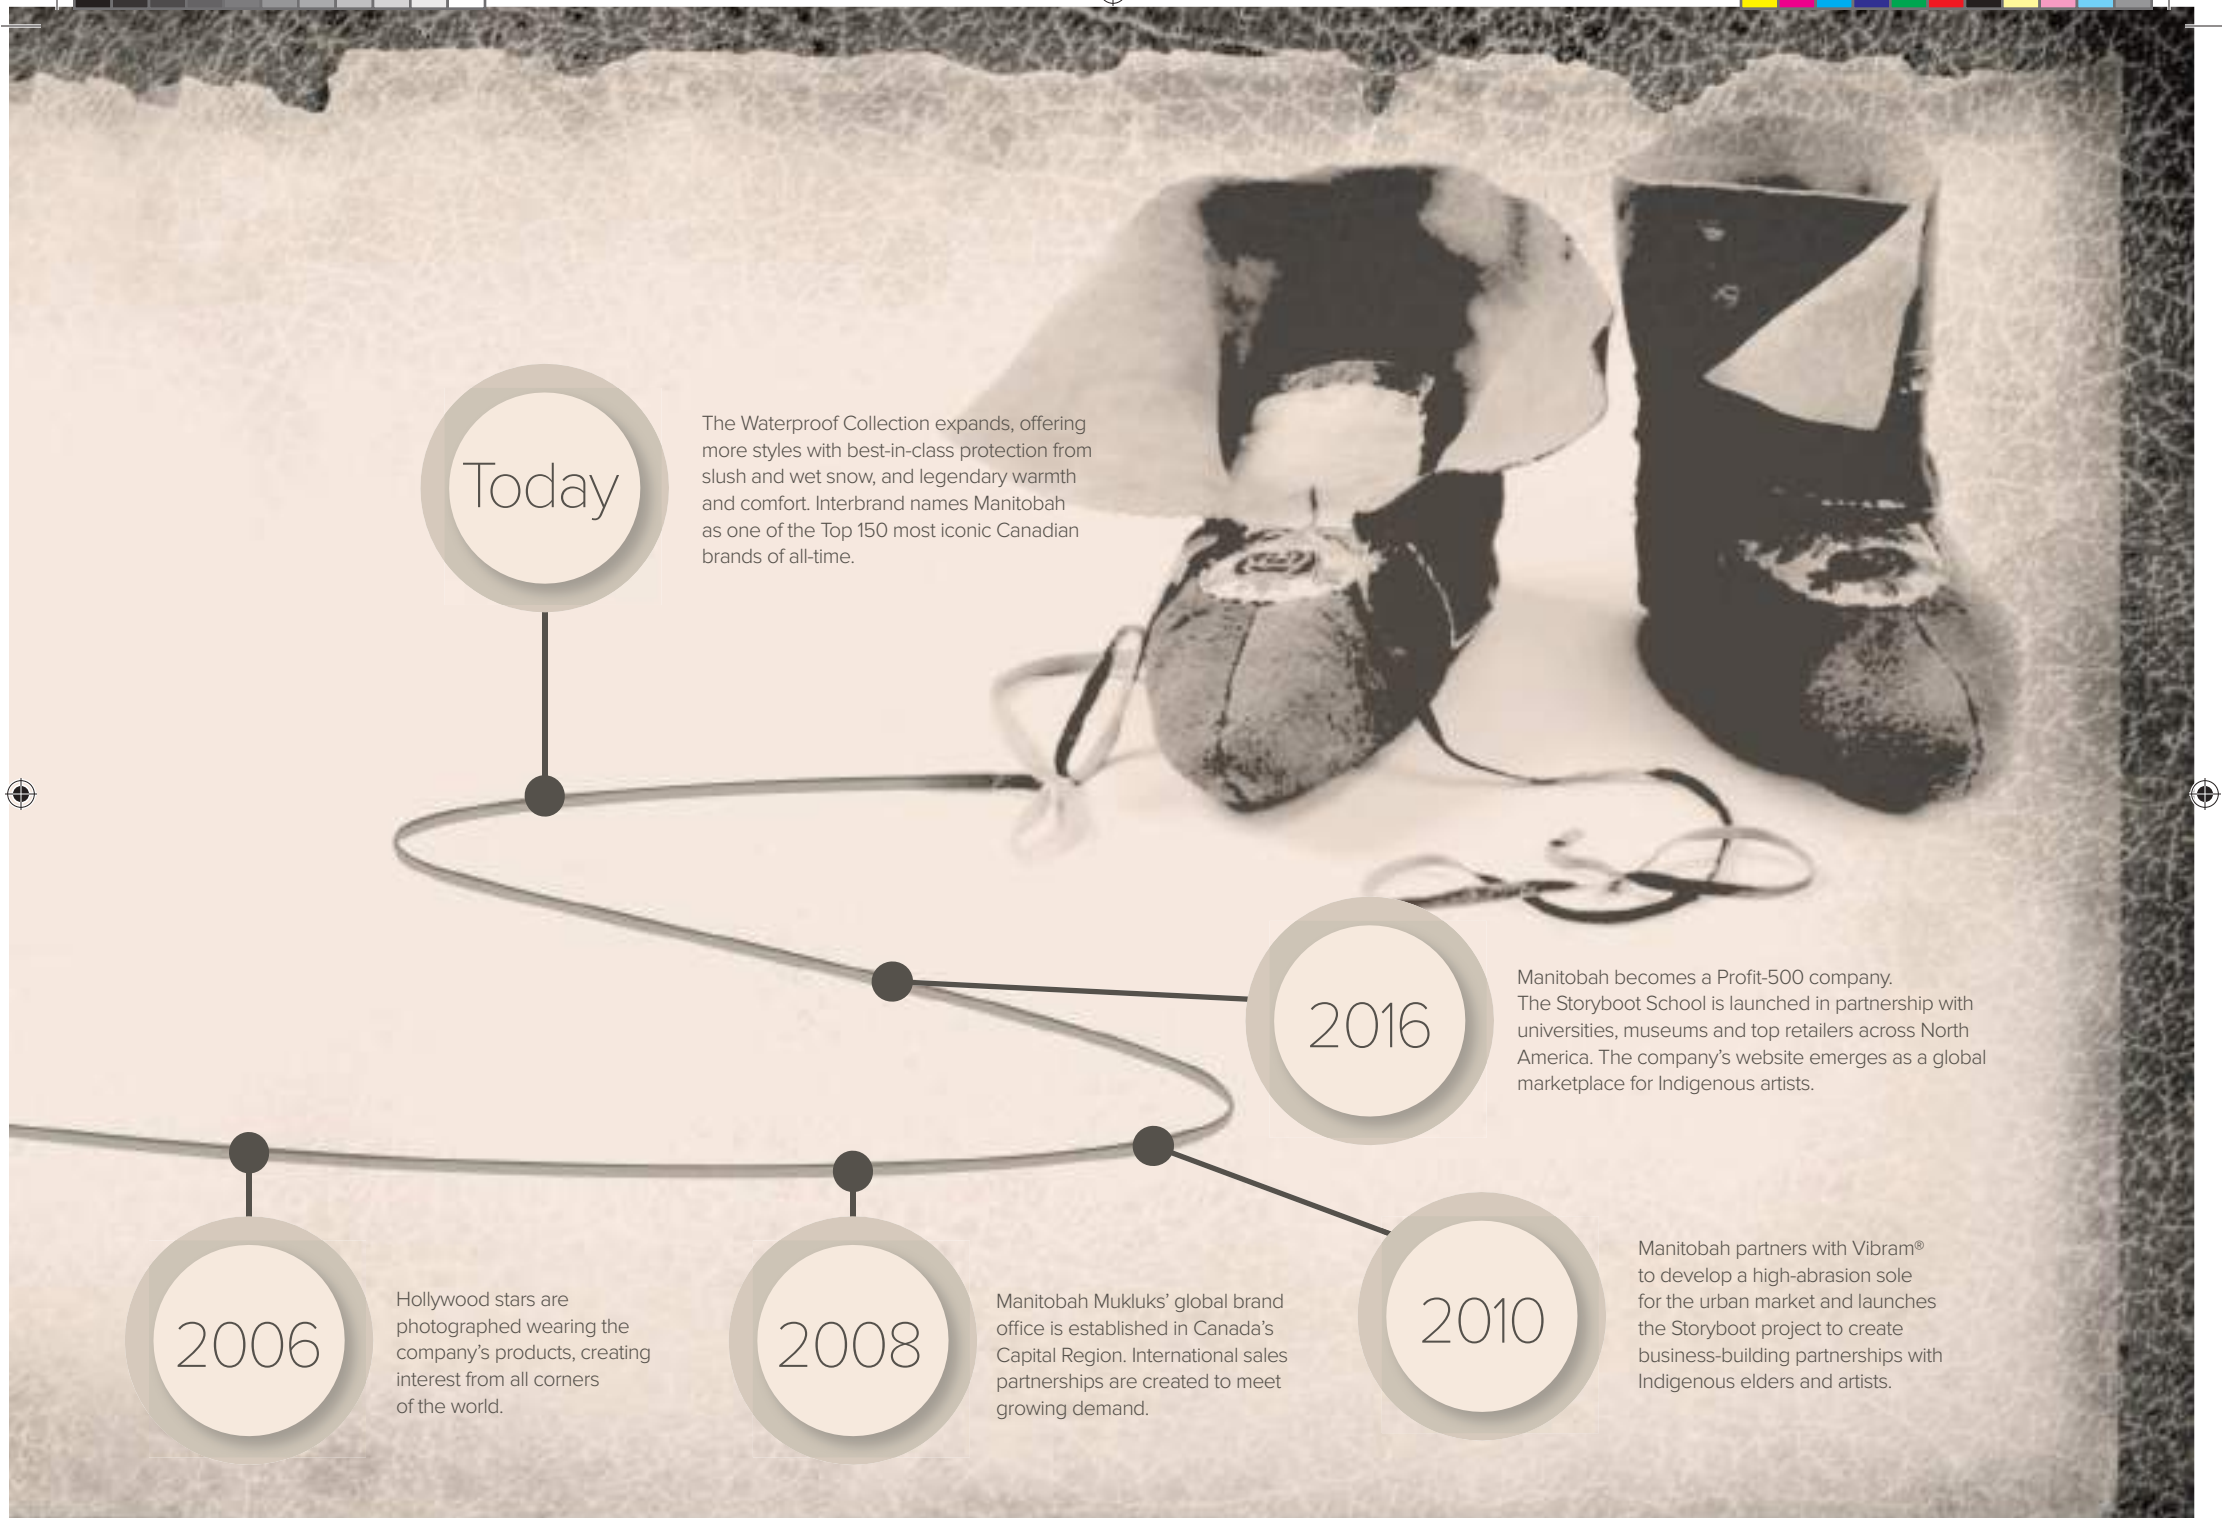

Manitoba becomes a province of Canada; Métis artisans supply handmade goods for emerging markets.

1990

Métis entrepreneur Sean McCormick establishes a trading post in Winnipeg, Manitoba. Indigenous artisans trade handmade mukluks and moccasins for Sean's tanned leather skins and furs.

1997

Sean McCormick registers a Canadian corporation and begins manufacturing Indigenous footwear.

Today

The Waterproof Collection expands, offering more styles with best-in-class protection from slush and wet snow, and legendary warmth and comfort. Interbrand names Manitobah as one of the Top 150 most iconic Canadian brands of all-time.

2016

Manitobah becomes a Profit-500 company. The Storyboot School is launched in partnership with universities, museums and top retailers across North America. The company's website emerges as a global marketplace for Indigenous artists.

2006

Hollywood stars are photographed wearing the company's products, creating interest from all corners of the world.

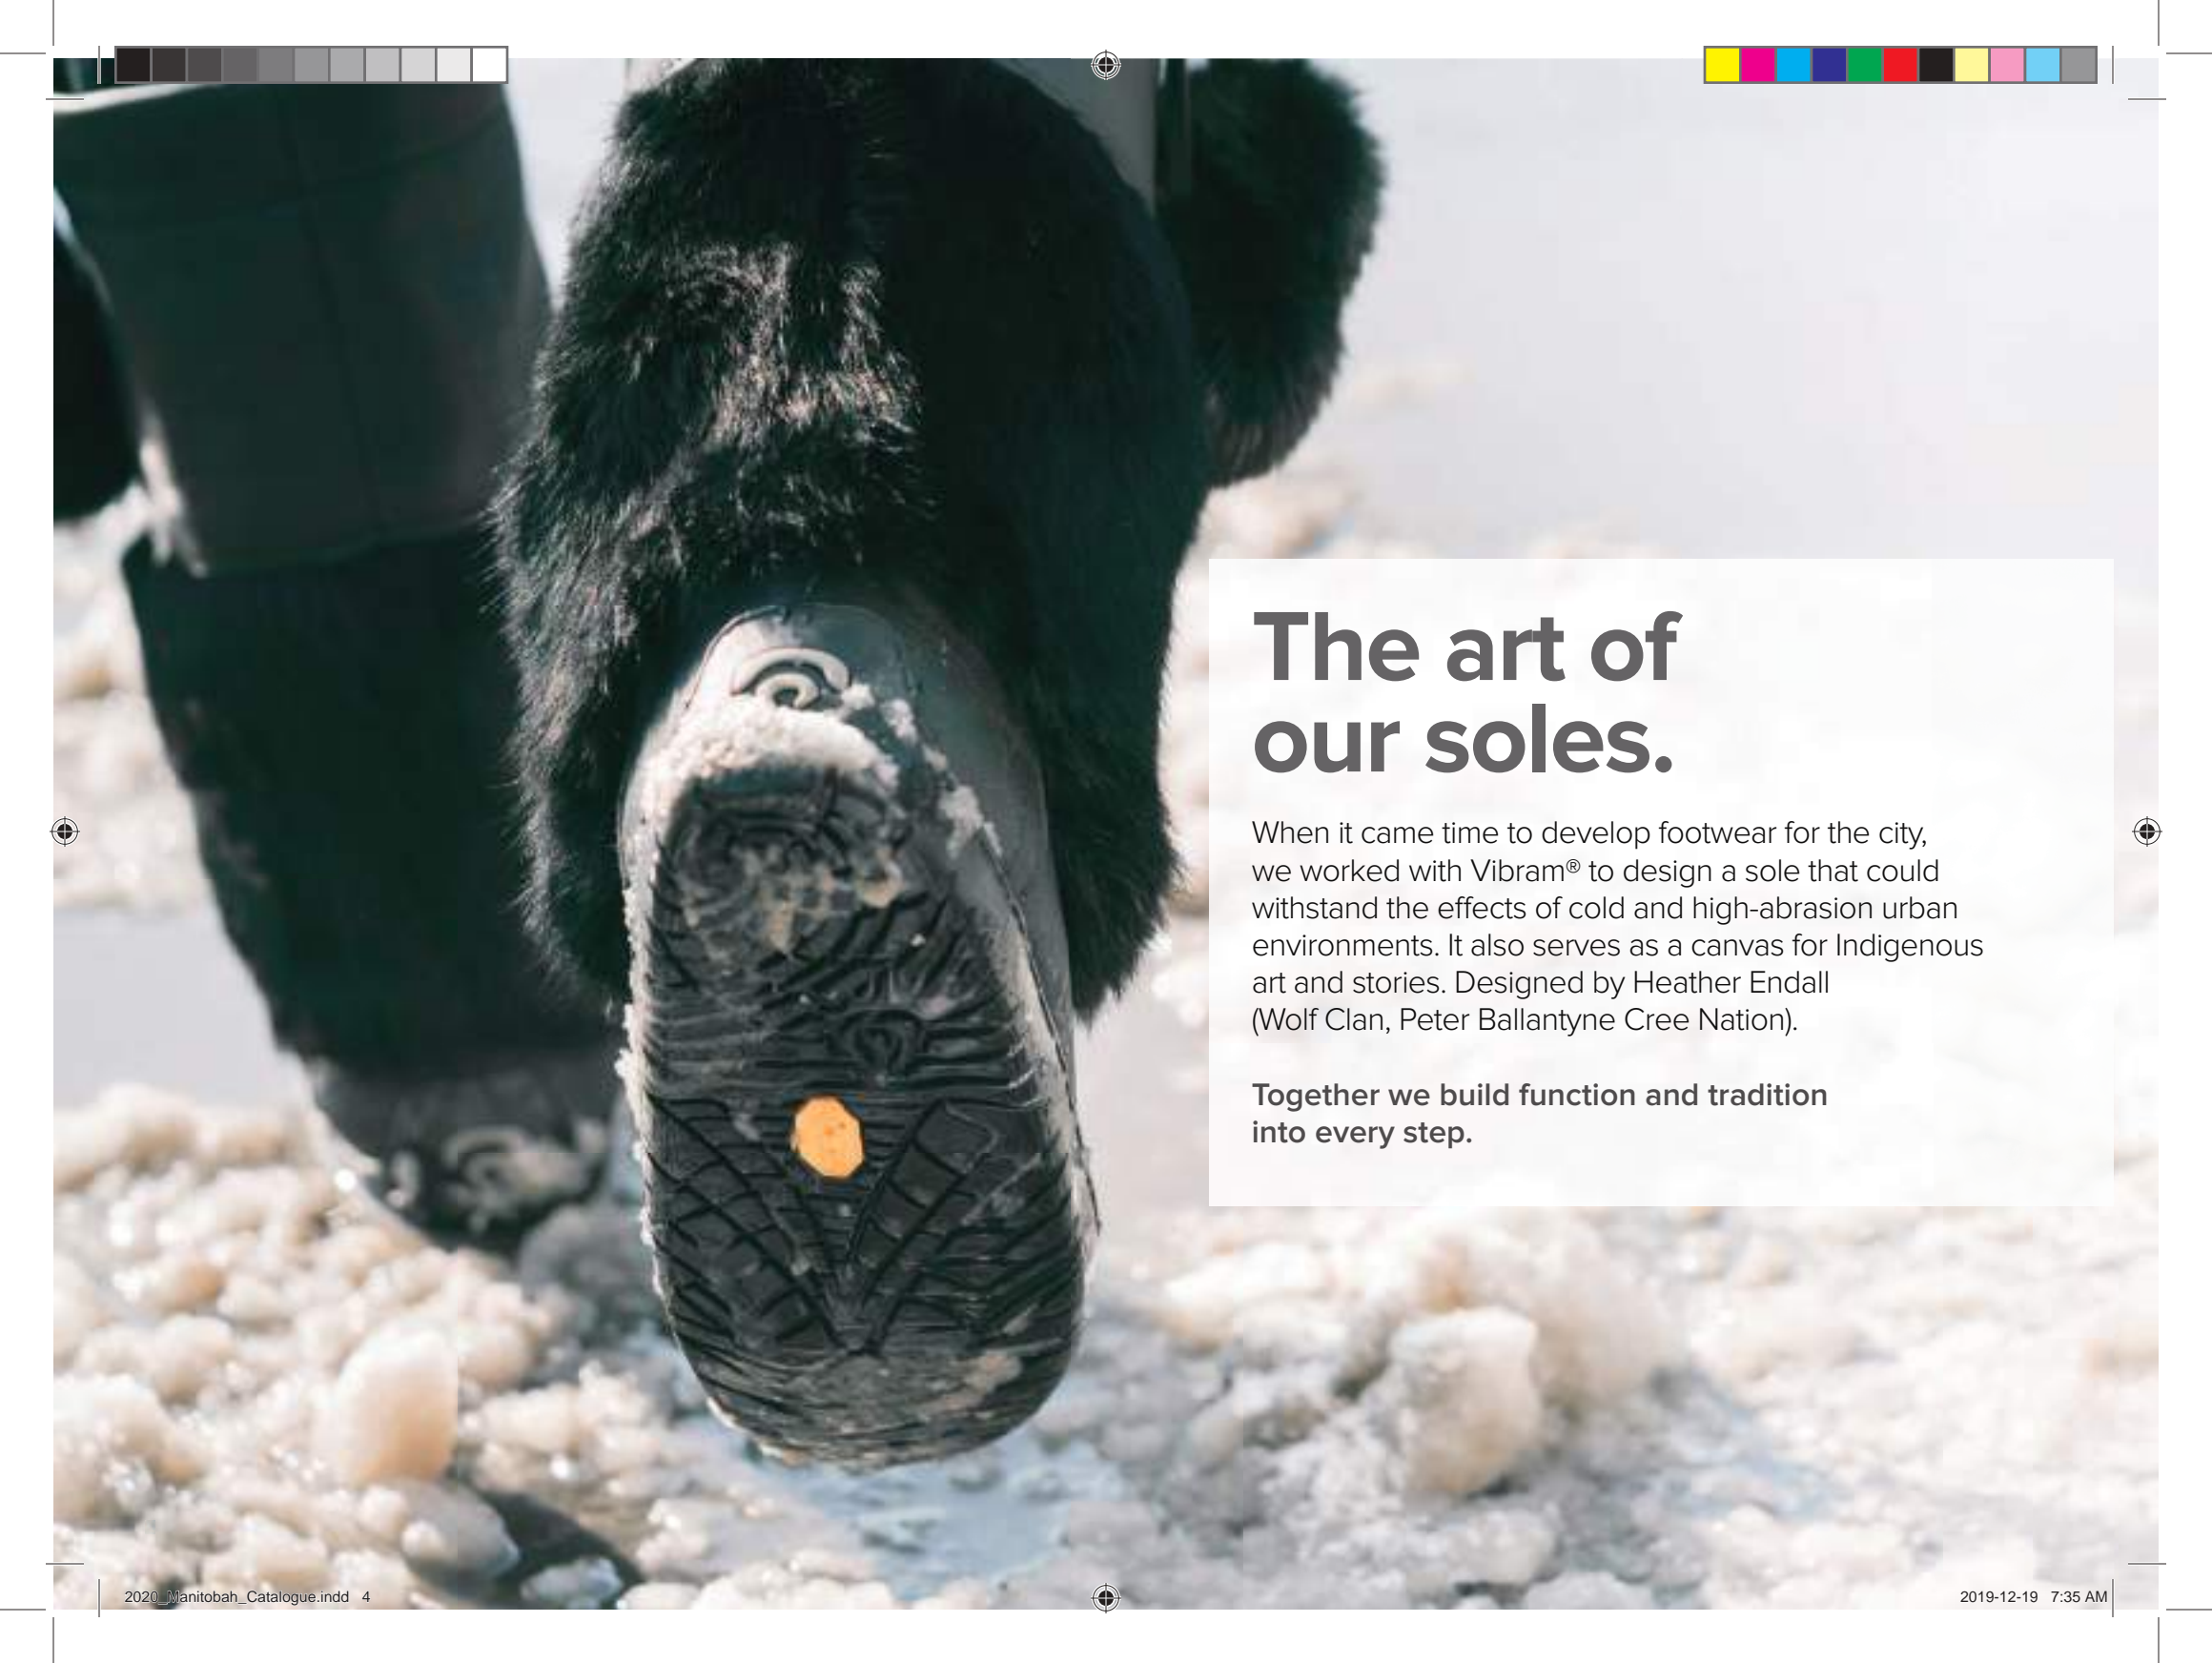

2008

Manitobah Mukluks' global brand office is established in Canada's Capital Region. International sales partnerships are created to meet growing demand.

2010

Manitobah partners with Vibram® to develop a high-abrasion sole for the urban market and launches the Storyboot project to create business-building partnerships with Indigenous elders and artists.

The art of our soles.

When it came time to develop footwear for the city, we worked with Vibram® to design a sole that could withstand the effects of cold and high-abrasion urban environments. It also serves as a canvas for Indigenous art and stories. Designed by Heather Endall (Wolf Clan, Peter Ballantyne Cree Nation).

Together we build function and tradition into every step.

Turtle Sole

- 1 A whole circle connects the life energy, yet it is divided to show man and woman, mother and father, the spirit world and the physical world.
- 2 Throughout the sky, flowing lines represent energy flowing through all beings.
- 3 Turtle swims towards the prairie grasses that have always sustained life.
- 4 Legends speak of Turtle Island, a land created when a clump of soil on Turtle's shell grew into what we now call North America. Markings on Turtle's back represent the moon cycles.

Tipi Vibram® Sole

- 1 The Sky represents life-giving water falling as rain and snow.
- 2 Trees to the left of the tipi represent the Woodland People.
- 3 To the right are the western mountains.
- 4 This is the doorway we walk through together as modern hunter-gatherers.
- 5 Fire tells us our People will always survive. Prairie plains behind are home to the Great Horse and Buffalo People.
- 6 The swirling Four Winds cleanse as the Sun circles our Mother Earth.

Storyboot Project

A global marketplace where Indigenous artists become online entrepreneurs.

Our Storyboot Project helps revive the traditional arts by creating partnerships with elders and artisans who fashion mukluks and moccasins the traditional way. At its inception, the Storyboot Project began with a single Cree artist in Norway House, Manitoba. A few short years later, the Storyboot Project has emerged as a global online marketplace where Indigenous artists showcase their one-of-a-kind mukluks and moccasins and receive 100% of the proceeds.

In 2020, the Storyboot Project showcases the work of 100 talented Indigenous artisans from across North America, and includes Indigenous arts such as caribou tufting and birch-bark biting.

In this way we hope Indigenous communities everywhere can benefit from the knowledge of their ancestors.

Storyboot School

Classes in our boardroom and beyond

In 2014 we partnered with Indigenous artisans to offer five-week courses in mukluk and moccasin-making in our Winnipeg boardroom. We called this "The Storyboot School."

In 2015, for the first time, the Storyboot School was offered outside of the Manitobah boardroom. Universities, museums and community organizations embraced the opportunity to host Indigenous-led courses, where students could learn a timeless craft while raising the profile of Indigenous artistry within the public sphere.

In 2020, we continue to expand our reach both nationally and locally, offering courses in remote communities and developing a digital archive of instructional videos, accessible to people everywhere.

Métis ∞
COLLECTION

“Mukluks and moccasins, as much as any other artifact, hold the story of how our Métis ancestors lived, worked and played.”

Sean McCormick -- Founder, Manitobah Mukluks

From Our Past

MÉTIS

Mé-tis [mey-tee]

Canada's First Peoples descended of marriages to Europeans, mainly French. The Métis are one of three officially recognized Indigenous Peoples in Canada.

The Métis People wove floral art patterns into the lives of most tribes on the Northern Plains. These designs became a defining cultural symbol for us. For this reason, the Dakota Sioux and Cree called us the "Flower Beadwork People."

Métis women had always adorned tipis and clothing with geometric beadwork, but the patterns changed when Roman Catholic missions along the St. Lawrence River introduced the Métis to European folk art. By the 1830s, vibrant floral designs were found on most of our products.

Floral beadwork reached unrivaled levels of artistry throughout the Red River region during the mid-nineteenth century. With great pride we continue to create mukluks and moccasins that reflect our unique artistic heritage.

COMMITMENT

For every pair of KANADA mukluks and moccasins sold, a portion of the proceeds goes to Rosa Scribe, an Indigenous artist dedicated to teaching traditional arts in her community and at our Storyboot School in Winnipeg, Manitoba.

About the Artist

Born and raised in Norway House, Cree Nation (population 5000), Rosa Scribe is a soft-spoken and inspirational artist. Having learned the art of handcrafting mukluks from her grandmother, Rosa has spent 25 years perfecting her art. Today, Rosa has become a renowned teacher at University College of the North, instructing ever-expanding classes of students who are learning to make mukluks, moccasins and mitts the traditional way.

From Our Past

FIGURE: P8774

Mittens, Gwich'in
Unsmoked caribou hide,
porcupine quills, elaeagnus seeds, sinew,
aniline and natural dyes
1890 – 1900

Pair of mittens attached to each other by way of long hide thong, all decorated with porcupine quill work in purple, turquoise, orange and fuchsia. Fringe inserted at seams and cuff.

Alexander MacKenzie observed in 1789, "Their [Gwich'in] shirts are... tapering to a point...embellished with a short fringe...The sleeves are wide & short, but their mittens supply this deficiency, as they...come over...the sleeve...they wear them continually hanging by a cord over their necks."

We walk together

As an Indigenous-owned company, our vision is to build a vibrant global brand that makes a significant impact in Indigenous communities.

For this collaboration, we partnered with Christi Belcourt, a Métis visual artist, who shares a deep respect for Indigenous traditions and knowledge. Her work often explores and celebrates the beauty of the natural world. Together, we've created a limited edition Pendleton blanket using signature floral motifs found in both her work and ours.

Caring for your Manitobah footwear

Protection:

Use a silicon-based leather/suede protector.
Do not spray fur, as it contains natural protective oils.

To Clean:

Leather can be cleaned using a gentle soap and soft brush.

To Dry:

Once wet, allow your footwear to dry naturally.

Wear:

Never pull fur when putting on or removing boot.
Cross laces over before tightening to avoid tearing leather eyeholes.
