

Homepage

What household hasn't benefited from the comforting, hypnotic scent of candles? Since ancient Greece, candles have been a mainstay in homes, businesses, and public squares – and it wasn't just light that they provided. The best celebrations, the most memorable dates, and the most profound conversations all occur by candlelight.

Wick and Wicked offers the best in scented aromatherapy, perfect for those intimate evenings at home alone or a relaxing gathering of dear friends. Our website houses every scent you can find in any candle shop. Canada has a long tradition of fine, powerful candles, from the days of Natives first settling. We hope to carry on the tradition with the latest in aromatherapy.

At Wick and Wicked candles, we pride ourselves on candles of the highest quality for any occasion. Scented or unscented, they're sure to set the perfect romantic mood on those intimate nights. There's no event or celebration that isn't suited for candlelight. There's a reason more than 75 percent of candles are sold during the holidays, with the rest purchased for special "thank you"s and parties. Candles are the ultimate gesture of goodwill, and giving someone an aromatherapy candle says you care for their wellbeing and only wish them relaxation and peace.

Wick and Wicked knows the value of repeat business, which is why we only work with the finest waxes available to produce the highest quality candles available. So shop Wick and Wicked today, and be sure to visit our blog for the latest in candle news, our best recommendations, and further information about the technology behind one of the longest traditions in human history.

Shop

There's no shortage of reasons to shop for candles. Wick and Wicked is proud to offer a fine selection of the best in gel, aromatherapy, and soy-wax candles. They're perfect for gifts, romantic evenings, and quiet nights alone. But the key to any candle is quality, which is something we pride ourselves on. Wick and Wicked candles are made to last, for the interior decorator in everyone. Just one can change the entire mood of a room.

We know the world is stressful these days, and with no sign of let-up, everyone needs a little relaxation. Our aromatherapy candles set to work right away, soothing your nostrils right down to your very soul. Find an escape in our natural soy wax candles.

What home isn't complemented with a pleasant fragrance? Your friends and neighbors will enter through your front door, only to be greeted with a delightfully comforting scent. Whatever your aesthetic, at Wick and Wicked, you're sure to find the candle that accompanies your overall tone.

No holiday is complete without the pleasing scents of the season. Autumn, Spring, and Winter – enhance your seasonal motivation and get in the right in the spirit with the perfect, subtle lighting.

Did you know that your olfactory senses are most directly linked to your memory? That's why so many people purchase candles with fragrances that remind them of their favorite travels, as unique scents from all over the world can help you reminisce about your glory days.

Candles have been gifted since the early days of civilization, and giving your dear one a special one – selected with tenderness – is a time-honored signature of love and attention.

So shop Wick and Wicked candles today, and find the perfect gift for yourself or your loved ones. We pride ourselves on fast delivery, excellent customer service, and complete satisfaction.