

10 Travel Products That'll Make Economy Feel Like Business Class

In 2020, the year we thought we could expand our travel and opportunities for the beginning of the decade, was cut short by the coronavirus, restricting us from our traveling, entertainment, everyday routines, and necessities. As a result, flights decreased globally by 23.8 million, down from the previous years' 40.3 million.

As we've lived through the time of heavy restrictions, we reach a newer opportunity where the virus has lessened, and people can finally travel to their desires through flight. If you're one of those people, you probably know that business class flights can range anywhere from $3,000 to $6,000, as it's usually too pricey for the average person.

If you're an experienced traveler, using economy class and dealing with others around you can be a challenge. So what if you're planning a flight a week from now, and you suddenly see an impressive pair of noise-canceling headphones on Amazon for only $38.00? To help, we've compiled the top ten traveling products that will ease your comfort, making you feel like you're on a luxurious business-class flight.

AERIS Memory Foam Travel Pillow

This impressive set by AERIS contains a memory foam neck pillow, a silk eye mask, and a set of earplugs. The memory foam pillow cushions and eases the muscles in the neck and allows you to lay back comfortably, as the eye mask blocks out any light, along with the earplugs that cancel out noise and disturbances. The set is a perfect way to cancel out troubles and invite the peace of traveling, as a business class flight includes fewer disturbances and discomfort.

Elevate Your Next Flight

It's vital to bring your own products on your flight to help ease you on the journey. However, some come aboard with luggage that they didn't consider and leave a flight experience that may be challenging.

Some wish they also had the time to prepare, and received better service too. For example, business-class seats that typically range from $3,000 to $6,000 include already prepared products not usually available on the typical economy-class flight. Thankfully, with a little preparation and thoughtful buying, you too can live in luxury during your next long-haul flight.

So why not treat yourself with alternatives and make the trip much more fun? From high-end products designed to make your nap that much nicer, to skincare and other luxuries crafted to see you at your best, there's truly something on our list for everybody. Since we're finally getting back to traveling, it's time to prepare and visit our desired destinations with products that will truly make life better and your next flight experience all-the-more luxurious.
