

Musical Instrument Appraisers' Insurance Plan

We all make mistakes in life. For appraisers, these can add up very quickly, both figuratively and literally. While we can't help you undo mistakes in your past, we can help you better plan for and protect your future. Our musical instrument appraisers' insurance plan has been created and tailored to deal with the unique challenges and risks instrument appraisers may face in their field.

This unique policy protects you from potential liability associated with instances of misappraisal, in addition to covering the costs of possible damage repair and instrument loss. While instances of misappraisal aren't common, the issues that result from them can be quite costly and can even damage your reputation. Our policy is here to prepare you and help you better navigate these potential challenges, reducing possible losses and any downtime you may face.
