

Current Garage Door Trends For Your Home

Garage doors are a major focal point of your home's curb appeal. It may be tempting to opt for something that is not on-trend, but it may lower the home's value to do so. Garage doors account for a large part of a home's appearance, yet many homeowners tend to overlook it.

Replacing or updating garage doors can be just the thing to give the home an added visual boost. It is easy to think of the garage as just a place for storage, but its appearance can influence the flow of the rest of the house. Luckily with new garage door trends for 2022, there are many options to choose from.

Faux Wood

Wooden garage doors offer a luxurious look to any home. Faux wood gives the homeowner a chance to blend durability with style. Real wood is high maintenance, but faux wood offers a glam look without the extra cost.

The beauty and realism of the faux wood is worth it. Pairing the faux wood garage door with dark grey paint on the home's exterior gives it a bold contrast while offering a modern look.

Dark Colors

Dark and bold colors are on trend for 2022 garage door looks. Black garage doors can update the appearance of your home by giving it a chic look without breaking the bank. A black garage door will complement any home's aesthetic without clashing against the existing color scheme.

A bonus of a black garage door is less worrying about cleaning and maintenance because the dark colors will not wear down or show dirt as easily as others.

Windows

Choosing a garage door with windows gives a warm look while allowing natural light to filter in. Windows on the top of the garage doors add more privacy. Adding window panels to the left or right side of the garage door offers a modern and updated look without being too stark.

It gives an open and inviting feeling to the house. Windows on the garage doors give charm and character to the rest of the home.

Farmhouse-Style

The farmhouse is an iconic part of American style and architecture. However, its charming and rustic feel transcends all time. The farmhouse-style garage door is marked by its vintage yet functional design. Farmhouse-style garage doors tend to have windows with painted finishes or vintage-inspired wood.

Crossbuck designs on the garage doors are a classic nod to the farmhouse design, lending an authentic look. Whites, creams, and beiges are all great options for farmhouse-style garage door colors.

Keep Your Garage and Home Trendy

Sometimes a home renovation may lead to an overhaul of its appearance as well. When switching the garage doors, always keep in mind the overall safety and design of the home. Don't make a rash decision based on what's new and trendy.

Always keep longevity and the value of the home in mind. Not only can a new garage door make life simpler, but it can also add more return on the investment of a home. So be sure to carefully weigh your options when deciding on a new garage door for it.
