

Fashion news

Colder temperatures are just around the corner, so it's time to look at cosy knits and waterproof outerwear.

Edited by FLEUR MEALING

As the colder weather approaches, stay soft and snug with Ezibuy. Their large range of knitwear will keep you cosy from work days to weekends.

Emerge merino V-neck rib sweater in Lilac, $90. ezibuy.com

ON YOUR FEET
Slip into effortless elegance with Ziera. The Luis shoe, above, is perfect paired with an A-line skirt or dress. Featuring a stylish, low heel and the comfort Ziera is known for, this is a shoe your feet will love. Luis slip-on in Tuscany Suede, $220, zierashoes.com.

New label

Wanting to update your eyewear? Take a look at the new HUGO range of modern urban styles available now at Specsavers. Created with the modern woman – and man – in mind, the frames come in metal and acetate materials in colours ranging from metallic to cool blue and berry hues, with subtle HUGO branding. See specsavers.co.nz.

Rain ready

You know the saying, when it rains it pours... so make sure you have a quality jacket for when it does. RAINS, a Danish wet-weather brand, produces classic designs in a range of gorgeous colours. We love this lilac longline jacket, $195, from smithandcaugheys.co.nz.

ASK LJUBENKA

Q Hi Ljubenka. This is a tricky one but I'm hoping you can help! I recently broke my arm and now have a bulky half-arm cast on it. Do you have any advice for dressing with limited mobility? I may have broken my arm but I don't want that to hold me back from looking great!

A Dressing with a cast on can certainly be a difficult daily task. Fortunately, it's not winter and you have some warmer weather options as far as your wardrobe is concerned. Look at tops and dresses with wider armholes, which are very much in fashion at the moment.

Wearing a scarf, shawl or wrap is another way to dress when you have limited mobility. Capes are an option, too, to cover up your top half in a stylish manner.

Duster jackets with wider armholes are another great option to disguise your arm cast.

Fortunately, you won't have to consider these limited dressing options for ever, but hopefully the tips here will help you through the next few weeks. Take care. See Ljubenka on Instagram @holdtheglamour.

ALL PRICES ARE APPROXIMATE.