

Scout & about

We've been shopping for your home.

YOU KNOW YOU WANT IT Sculptographer, collector, curator, expat Kiwi – Toronto-based Anna Church is many things, and talented is one of them. For her latest series of fine art prints, Blurred Lines, she hand-painted silk flowers to make sculptures she then photographed reflected in mirrors. Enjoy at face value or find out the meaning of all this at annachurchart.com.

HOW WE ROLL With a fairytale hint of Hans Christian Andersen classic The Princess and the Pea, the Princess Toppers at Father Rabbit are the perfect partners for that daybed or couch you want to turn into a big softie. Made in New Zealand, these bedding rolls can be customised in the colour and size of your choice. fatherrabbit.com

THE DAILY SHOW A perpetual calendar is the gift that keeps on giving, a day-after-day guide that need not be thrown out with the empties come January 1. The uncomplicated display and alternating black and white palette of this cheeky little number, Urban Infinity, will complement most interior schemes and stand the test of time. theurbanhunterblog.com

HEART & SOLO We're Sandi fans through and through, and chuffed about the arrival of Nordic Kitchen by Eva Solo. With a cast-iron look but without the weight, the aluminium and oak cookware sits alongside a beechwood knife stand and oak and leather chopping boards. until.co.nz

NOTEWORTHY And now, we travel to South Korea, where they sure know how to do great stationery. This A6 memo pad from Dear Maison lets you address your missives to whom it may concern. And Seeso Graphics' Undated Editor diary features five different-sized rectangles per page, so you can organise your to-do lists your way. letliv.co.nz

MAGIC EIGHT Brainchild of Anne Holm and Sigrd Smetana, the Input organiser brings new meaning to clearing your desk, whisking all those bits and bobs up, up and away from your work surface and into eight moveable oak boxes you can arrange however takes your fancy. Employ its chic services in your study, or maybe the kitchen, entryway, bedroom – it's built to meet your everyday needs. concreteblush.com

KIND OF A BIG DEAL

Whether or not you have many leather-bound books and an apartment that smells of rich mahogany, we predict you'll love this super-sophisticated tan leather occasional chair. Artfully distressed for a lived-in look, it's padded to high heaven for maximum comfort. corcovado.co.nz

WE'RE COVETING

Eat out... at yours.

The EF5000 outdoor gas fireplace from Escea makes outdoor entertaining easy.

With electronic ignition, customisable styling and 16.5kW of heat, it's outdoor living with indoor comforts.

www.escea.com/EF5000

FIRE BY
escea.