

Kory Glover

I am a professional freelance writer, journalist, and copywriter. I am a self-starter, task oriented individual, highly motivated, productive and a strong contributor. I have previously worked in Dundas County, demonstrating my creative writing skills as a journalist and columnist for the local community papers. I have also managed to organize and complete several freelance writing jobs on a monthly basis. Recently, I've made the switch to a copywriting and content writing career, previously completing a contract with Invest Ottawa and employment with startup company, Autoly Inc.
