

Season 1 14 episodes

S01E01- Baby Marriage

Hook: Action of tragedies in that time

Introduction to the tragedies that bring Shiping and Lu Gui together. Through the Mei family we see the fatalistic and austere traditions of Chinese society. Through the Lu family we see the amazement and dangers of foreign concessions. All this clashes when the new Head of Mei, the foreign educated 1st Son, comes back to rule the family with new ways of understanding the world. He is confronted by Mother Lu, a superstitious woman who must convince the Mei's to help her family out- it becomes mutually beneficial in the end.

The episode ends with the baby marriage

S01E02- Food Binding

Hook: The horror of foot binding. Visual body horror.

The life of a common villager in China, 1880. Shiping (7) is a tom boy, cute and tough, she learns all the skills of a woman but takes on the adventures of a man. We see the pain she endures when they try to bind her foot. It becomes so bad she runs away from home and hides in the concession. We get a glimpse of the parallel worlds and how they interact. Once caught by her family she is forced to bind her feet and this causes her to fall dangerously ill.

In the end she is saved by a local Italian priest who offers her a job in the Church and freedom from foot binding. The family accepts, to Lu Gui's dislike, who feel he is married to a bad wife now.

S01E03- STD Consummation

Hook: The weight of Chinese traditions at this time which might seem unbelievable today.

Shiping is grown up to the age of 12, and she is looking more and more mature. She is educated now by the Preacher and she earns good money from the Church and from helping Lu Ma panhandle, using street performance, to get money from silly foreign tourists. The Preacher puts pressure on Shiping to stop helping her mother do wrong things, and a fight ensues with no resolution in mind. This story is interrupted by Shiping's first period, which marks the time to consummate the marriage. Lu Gui has been out of contact with the family, so Shiping must find him. She travels around the concession area to find him, revealing the debauchery of the life he has been living. Lu Gui comes back sick, and it's soon discovered that he has an STD.

The episode ends with a sick Lu Gui, anxiously waiting family, and a disgusted Shiping.

S01E04- Never a Real Marriage

Hook: The comedy of the adolescent sex ritual.

Lu Ma puts makeup on Lu Gui to make him look healthy, and play out the ceremony for family. They do not have sex though, and the marriage is never validated. Lu Gui is bed ridden and Shiping steals a bicycle from a rich foreigner, one she had been allowed to ride for fun before, and rides to the hospital to get medicine. She overdoes this, and breaks her hymen, which allows Lu Ma to show others that she is not a virgin, legally, but not emotionally binding the marriage. Lu Gui is healed and leaves, unhappy to be married to Shiping, who acts more like a sister.

Ends with back in the concession area Lu Gui becomes a constable, vowing to his friends to lead a better life.

S01E05- Shiping Leaves the South

Hook: The action of Lu Gui's heroism.

There's an accident, and Lu Gui saves the lives of many people when the stadium at a horse track collapses in the concession. One of them is a mafia boss, local black market, and in honor of his heroism Lu Gui gets a medal and invited to "join the family." Lu Gui's old friend from childhood, who he has played with, is revealed to be in the mafia already. Although Lu Gui wants to refuse involvement, his friend black mails him into joining.

Meanwhile, Shiping is called back to the Mei household. Things are bad there, her mother has been accused of doing wrong and the 4th wife, her mother's best friend, has been kicked out. Shiping's mother, who is very weak, died soon after from catching a cold in the wind. Shiping is outraged, and can't forgive the family- but the son of the 4th wife invites Shiping to travel with him, for he is to train as a doctor in a school.

End with: The traveling and moving on of characters.

S01E06- Dark Lives in a Concession

Hook: The new character of footless woman, who draws wonder and mystery.

The 4th wife, who we should know well, is staying at a mysterious brothel owned by a woman with no feet. We learn a bit about her story from the 4th wife. Shiping thanks the 4th wife for taking care of her mother for so long and bids farewell. Later her and Lu Gui catch up with each other and they talk about their marriage. In the end Lu Gui calls Shiping big sister and she leaves.

Lu Gui goes back to his home, there waiting for him is another woman, a prostitute that he's fallen in love with.

French sniper story as well.

End with: The twist of Lu Gui having a "wife" hooker.

S01E07- War Thunder

Hook: The Montage of the world at the time, not just fixed in China and from the usual perspectives.

We step out of our story for a moment, and visit the Lord in Europe, predicting the rise of China. We see ships being built in harbors, soldiers training. A Midget Squire. Shiping life at the time training as a nurse with the 4th son, in private. Churches being built. And many omens.

Back to the concession where even Mother Lu has a premonition about the times. She goes out to perform on the street corner, her trick to earn money, but this time the Italian Preacher reveals her trick, and she is laughed out of the concession- barred from coming back. The air is sizzling with talk of war and a Qing warlord comes to visit the best brothel in town. Lu Gui is asked to guard and help administer Opium to buyers there. While there, during the party, a Bodyguard with a scar on his face acts aggressive towards many guests and late on is accused of raping the brothel owner. For not stopping this, Lu Gui is fired as a constable.

Shiping and the 4th son go East, to the coast in preparation for war. On the way there the Chinese soldiers are too relaxed. They act like spoiled rich lords on vacation.

By the end of the episode we see a young Zhou Puyan, handsome and dignified. He's in Japan, talking with a Japanese man comfortably about war between the countries. He asks the Japanese man to return to China with him, as a diplomat to help stop the war from coming.

S01E08- 1st Sino Japanese War

Hook: A battle. All done in minute to minute detail. 1 hour of exact time. (cause it's damn cool)

Canons roar and iron balls shatter ships. Swift moving ships with Japanese flags waving on top masts easily rip apart commandeered ferry boats that spin about directionless. Zhou Puyan stands upon the top of a mount watching, distraught and helpless. Shiping and the 4th son are working in a Red Cross tent, patching up soldiers and civilians. Everything is in Chaos. Shiping runs out of a tent, just as the flap closes a stray round of grape shot obliterates the tent, sending debris and pieces of body all over. Everyone starts yelling as more the sound of canon fire grows louder and closer.

Shiping runs away and hides behind a large rock not far from the piers.

Zhou Puyan looks North and sees that the largest ship of the Chinese Navy has been run aground, barely making it out of port. He tears down the hillside and races towards the ship.

Shiping is not far from this ship. She sees Puyan run past, a brief flash in her vision. She calls out to him that he is in danger, but he isn't listening. She decides to chase.

At the ship's side he is trying to organize some men, who aren't working together at all, to get the ship out. He orders them to take a large beam and leverage it under the ship, to push it off the sand bar. They start to do this, but the 1st mate spots and Japanese Cruiser turning aft. He calls for abandon ship and all the men run. Zhou Puyan is the only one to stay, he tries to dislodge the ship. Shiping comes to help, and they work together.

The crack of canon's reaches their ears just as a ball ricochets off the side of the metal hull, which angled provides an impenetrable shell. The canon ball roars just past the two as they duck, the heat of the ball's kinetic energy distorts the air in front of them. For a moment Zhou Puyan goes back to pushing, but a second ball punctures the smoke stack and Shiping pulls him away.

They rush to a series of small caves drilled in the side of the coastline mountain. They hide among the slippery rocks, Zhou Puyan twists his ankle and falls. Shiping checks on his ankle, but he reveals that he has smashed his fingers. She makes a splint for them.

The episode ends with as they hide there, in the dark as the sounds of war rage outside.

S01E09- Aftermath

Hook: Aftermath of battle.

Zhou Puyan watches as 2 Japanese ships tug the trapped Chinese battle ship off the sand bar. The ship almost capsizes, but comes level and they carry it off. He watches until it's a dot in the horizon. Watching him is Shiping, she sees the pride in him, and how hard it is for him to experience this.

They talk in the cave, and return back to the city later after getting to know each other first. He takes her to his Mansion, where he lives with his mother. The news of China losing battle after battle comes in. During this time Shiping is offered a job by him at the mansion as a maid. She also sees his wounded fingers.

End with showing that something between them is growing, but Zhou Puyan's mother watches with a deep hostility.

S01E10- Yin-Yang Shifts

Hook: We put Lu Gui in a darker spot than ever. Show how far he's fallen. He's a lovable character, still fun and charming, but totally gone down the wrong path now.

Lu Gui with his hooker girlfriend. She starts to play him, making him paranoid about the situation with the mafia boss. Finally she comes out and asks him to kill the Mafia boss.

Meanwhile Shiping and Zhou Puyan fall in love, but never bring it to fruition, they just can't. It drags on to a deranged point.

Lu Gui finds his boss dead in the bedroom. He must take care of the body. It is revealed that it was his friend who did the killing, not his girlfriend. She's been playing him. He decides to end their relationship, he can't deal with the guilt of his boss's death.

Fanyi is born.

End with Shiping and Puyan kiss, hot kissing, so hot.

S01E11- Zhou Ping born

Hook: Traveling North, which is new to audiences.

Lu Gui isn't happy in the concession area he has taken to drinking and gambling too much. His friend plans a trip for them up North to visit another branch of Mafia. They go North, where Lu Gui is asked to talk to a British Opium guy and his Indian partner. They make special drugs there. Lu Gui and his friend, along with the gang up there try to work out a deal with them, but they won't sell their stuff in China, only to Brits (cause they hate England). The mafia people stay out all night, as the British man wastes all the ammo in a game of cat and mouse. Lu Gui further realizes how dangerous his friend is.

Shiping has Zhou Ping. At this time she meets a young preacher, who is building a Church on the coast, near to where the ship was wrecked. To the horror of Puyan's mother. She won't approve of their relationship and leaves to the North. Zhou Puyan decides to chase after her, hoping to convince her that it's okay to marry a maid. He leaves Shiping alone.

End with Zhou Puyan leaving and Shiping's worries.

S01E12- Stuck in the Middle

Hook: The letter from Puyan.

Shiping receives a letter from Zhou Puyan, he has changed his mind. He thinks that what they have together is wrong, and that she should give their son up to his Japanese friend, who will educate the boy. Reluctantly, she does so when the Japanese man arrives.

Up North Zhou Puyan struggles as his Qing relatives want him to prepare for war and warn him that the loss to Japan can never be forgotten. He enters a new world, unlike the East where people seem to have moved on, as a new China.

This causes her much pain, so she goes back south and visits the Mei family, Lu family, and when Lu Gui comes back she sees if they can be married. She tries to have sex with him, but in the end he's too drunk.

This episode can have many side elements introduced.

End with her leaving, back to the East, disappointed in her prospects.

S01E13- Rebound to Suicide

Hook: Puyan and Shiping reunite.

Shiping finds Puyan, he's back in town and wants to see her, he's followed up on her and reports that their son is doing well in Japan. Although he says they can't marry, he can't keep his hands off of her. He starts to blame her for his lust and this enrages her. They fight, make love, and fight.

Shiping gets a job at a church, built on the hill near to where the ship was wrecked. She tries to keep her distance from the odd relationship with Puyan, but she finds out that she's pregnant. DaHai is born and Puyan goes away to ask permission to marry, but on the way North he is captured by Qing soldiers and questioned for his role in the Sino-Japanese war. A few weeks later, a letter for him comes, it says he's engaged to another woman.

Something in Shiping snaps. She takes DaHai and puts him into a Monastery and jumps into the river near by. The water drags her far down as onlookers yell. She suddenly finds that she isn't drowning, someone is saving her and although she's gone quite far from where she jumped, she's alive.

End with her rushing back to the Monastery but DaHai is gone. They admit to selling the child to human traffickers.

S01E14- Lu Gui finds Happiness

Hook: Desperate run south, panic to find son.

Shiping makes a desperate run to the South, begging for Lu Gui. He comes, and she tells him that he has a son. That she wants to make their marriage real, and to have a family. But the son was taken by kidnappers at a Monastery. He is suspicious, but the idea of a son brings him a sudden joy.

He gets his gangster friend to come with him, to investigate. Shiping leads them to the Monastery where they beat the truth out of some Monks. They find another location and are sent on another lead.

Finally, the true location is revealed, a cave by the water's edge, where 4 bandits are with children.

In the end they sneak up through mud and throngs of mosquitos to where the bandits are beaten, rather ruthlessly by the Gangster friend. Lu Gui holds up his son to the sky and cheers with the first piece of joyous feelings in years.

Season 2 13 Episodes

S02E01- Boxer Rebellion

Hook: Clandestine meeting under the stars, visual masterpiece.

A group of farmers meet near a totem out in the field of the North, they see a comet and decide it's a sign for them to act. They will kick the forefingers out.

Mobs spread throughout the cities, carrying clubs and looking for foreigners to take their frustrations out on. This includes the story of Midget and French Sniper.

Shiping and Lu Gui with DaHai are in the Eastern Church, resting. Despite the talk of the Boxer rebellion, a wedding between the Preacher and his wife, come from America, is still planned.

During the ceremony, which is very Western and mysterious to Shiping, a large mass of Boxers surround the church, demanding to be let in, to overthrow the church and use the space for themselves. They attack the doors, but Lu Gui and his friend block it up. It's only a matter of time.

End on them trapped.

S02E02- Daring Escape

Hook: Lu Gui's plan.

It's Lu Gui that thinks of a plan, he sneaks out at night with his friend and goes to the local Chinese police station where he borrows/steals some uniforms. He pins the medal he won from Season 1, for saving people, on his chest. On horseback they ride to the church and act as authorities to steer the crowd away, to another place.

Zhou Puyan is in a small prison. They've decided to execute him as a spy because of his connections to his Japanese. He explains his past, in Germany, where the Japanese helped him out with the sexual pervert Professor. A humiliating story he's kept secret. He wants a unification with Japanese, against the western, who are inferior.

This confession resonates with some Boxers, who line him up for execution and decide to play a game. First they play this game with a midget and French man, where the midget must run to the French Sniper without getting shot.

Puyan is saved at the last moment, after being humiliated deeply.

Down South the Boxer Rebellion is in full swing. For years Mother Lu has wanted revenge on the Italian Priest for him revealing her tricks. She leads a group of boxers to his place, which is locked tight, but because of Shiping's old job, she has key to his gate and she lets the boxers in. They drag him out and beat him to death.

End with Puyan back in the Qing home. They discuss his marriage, and how he must redeem his tarnished name. He must get married- they've chosen the Lord's 4th daughter.

S02E03- The Perfect Lady

Hook: We go somewhere new, see someone new, the start of a new story.

A baby born, unclear who, unless you remember Fanyi's birth in season one.

A toddler is given to a preparatory school, where she will have no parents. At a young age she is given directions by authoritarian teachers. She is treated harshly and her unhappiness is apparent.

7 years old, in a music class where she learns harp. A very cute student near her plays well and laughs charmingly, attracting Fanyi's attention- this is Butterfly.

Now as a teenager, Fanyi is being prepped to be beautiful, to be poised, to be perfect. The perfect wife. She waits in room, watching the door eagerly.

A door opens, and in steps Zhou Puyan, but this isn't the same room. We are up North, in the style of room they keep. He seems nervous. He walks in and on a bed is a thin, gaunt girl deep in fever. Her skin is pallid and family waits by. They say she won't make it and it's been decided that Zhou Puyan will have a Corpse Marriage.

Lu Ma has been arrested and they put her in line for execution. She watches as many men/women are hung. The line grows shorter and soon she has a black bag on her head, they will hang her. She freaks out, howling, and the bag is removed. She has lost her mind, ranting on about superstitions and fate.

S02E04- Marriages

Hook: Shiping helps a hungry woman during a drought.

Lu Gui and Shiping are living with Ma Lu, who is now out of her mind, demanding, and constantly pecking at Shiping to be a perfect wife. Lu Gui is stressed so badly by this setup that he takes to gambling, drinking, and once the starving woman is cleaned up he takes to lusting for her.

He wants her to be his 2nd wife, and Lu Ma is excited at the prospect. A wedding planned and Shiping is disgusted at this. She is already replaced by this new woman, and Lu Ma even accuses her of being a bad mother. Secretly, the 2nd wife is a bitch, who treats Lu DaHai poorly and manipulates everyone.

Shiping catches her stealing once, and a dark rivalry is born.

Zhou Puyan is married to the dead woman and inherits the fortune and flag of the Qing house. He is assigned a new job, a military role to rebuild the Qing army. It's revealed that his father was a Qing soldier, although Han, and lost his legs in the war. He was then made mayor of a town and was a local hero until he died in an accident. Puyan was adopted by the Qing soldier he saved and grew up among 3 brothers, 2 of which are now dead. The last living brother is the bodyguard of the Qing lord, and Puyan is deeply connected in this political movement.

Puyan is sent south to find a new wife, a rich one, to a training school of rich ladies. It's here that Puyan crosses paths with Fanyi.

End on: Puyan takes little notice of her, but she, along with Butterfly, find him desirable.

S02E05- Pea-cocking

Hook: The modern sexiness of Butterfly and Fanyi, dressing up to impress.

This episode plays out like some British drama, with balls, dinners, battles of etiquette and wit. Fanyi double crosses and sabotages other girls who are after Zhou Puyan, showing her darker, more plotting side.

Finally she attracts his attention, and he finds himself smitten with her. But the last obstacle is Butterfly, her best friend. She wants him too.

Intercut this with the battle between Shiping and the New Wife of Lu Gui. Two women competing for him, except here Shiping doesn't know how to pretend, she's just who she is, so the 2nd Wife of Lu Gui easily wins and Shiping leaves, going back East- she receives a letter from the Preacher's wife that they need a nanny and Shiping can have a job. Shiping is pregnant with Lu Sifeng.

End on: Shiping getting Lu Gui drunk, telling him she will go East for work, and leaving. Also Fanyi flips out, emotionally, on another girl, who makes a move towards Zhou Puyan.

S0206- Mad World

Buffer episode, need time to develop Fanyi and Butterfly more and show she is crazy.

Zhou Puyan travels back North for business and consultation. During this time the Qing lord is almost killed, but instead his bodyguard dies. Zhou's youngest step brother is taken in as the new guard.

The Qing dynasty is falling, big overarching events that influence everyone. 100 day reform is around this time and Zhou Puyan is asked to help with this- that is until it fails.

End on failure of Qing dynasty to adapt and Zhou Puyan returning, he has to get married- they've given him just a short time to marry and come back to help the fight in Qing. They need money.

S02E07- Honeymoons are bitter

Hook: On the trip East Shiping is alone and gives birth to Lu Sifeng. "Pulling the child from her own pussy." (Not my words)

Up north Puyan feels young again and takes Fanyi on a fantastic honeymoon. Everything seems perfect and the Zhou mansion is built.

Lu Gui's 2nd Wife offers him lots of drinks one hot night, and encourages his gambling. Lu Gui loves his fun wife and drinks with her all night. When he awakens, he has been robbed and the wife is gone. He's been tricked.

Ends on Fanyi pregnant and happy and Lu Gui miserable, doing what he can to earn money to recoup the losses.

S02E08- Zhou Chong and Zhou Ping

Hook: Zhou Chong is born and a letter is sent to Japan, for Zhou Ping to visit and pay respect to his brother.

Fanyi falls into a depression for two reasons: 1) she doesn't understand what to do with the baby, she doesn't take to being a mother 2) Zhou Puyan disappears from her life, going to work all the time and not visiting. He literally closes the door, the room darkens and he is heard from no more.

Zhou Puyan erects a special room in the mansion with old furniture and the picture of Shiping. Fanyi tries to ask him about it, but he won't confess the meaning.

End on Zhou Ping meeting Puyan and Fanyi on the dock. He is unhappy, angsty, and a 13 year old boy who acts very mature for his age. Fanyi tries to act as his mother, but is harshly rebuffed. Puyan feels Ping is so indignant, that he doesn't care for him to visit the Mansion.

S02E09- Lost Past

Hook: A strange new man is at the Zhou Mansion, he's a PI (Private Investigator), Fanyi has hired him to find her parents.

After he leaves, the house is empty, only servants. Young Zhou Chong (1) waddles in and babbles. Fanyi ignores him and walks away, a nanny comes to watch him.

Italian Preacher comes to South, mad about his brothers death and looking for revenge.

Shiping confesses the story of seeing mother's sleep together as child. This is a confession between them, something is deeper about their relationship and neither know how to say it.

End on Shiping and Preacher's Wife almost kissing, when they both kneel down for something.

S02E10- Unwanted Answers

Hook: PI returns.

PI answers about family. It's not good. Fanyi comes from an unknown home, a fake address. Upon investigation, she is somehow connected to a brothel. Maybe she is the illegitimate daughter of a rich politician or something.

Fanyi becomes more mentally unstable and German doctor is brought in to study her. We see him studying the French Sniper when Zhou Puyan goes to him.

The Preacher's old friend, a Blonde woman from New York, comes to visit. This gets Shiping away from the wife, their relationship is uneasy due to sexual feelings.

The wife finds evidence that her husband is cheating- love letter? She asks Shiping to investigate.

It doesn't take long for Shiping to find out that he is sleeping not with the Blonde, like they suspected, but with Chinese woman involved in his silk business.

End on the electrocution room used to treat Fanyi's illness. It makes her worse.

S02E11- Rebellion

Hook: 2nd assassination attempt of lord. The Blonde woman is involved in helping save him as she calls out, seeing guys with guns sneaking into a public event she was part of, as a crowd member.

Divorce of the American Preacher couple.

Fanyi's Mother comes back.

Japanese ties revealed. The mother wants to turn Fanyi against the Qing, and she thinks Zhou Puyan will help because of his ties to Japan. Lots of past revealed.

End: The Qing falls, the Last Emperor. Zhou must consider shameful suicide or rebuilding. Zhou Puyan drinks a lot this night and Fanyi realizes he will confess things. She learns of Shiping and their illicit time.

S02E12- A New World

Zhou Puyan wants to leave home and go with the Lord to help rebuild Qing. A fight breaks out, Fanyi's mother claims Qing is doomed and she knows that assassins are coming to kill Zhou Puyan, but if he stays he won't die.

Puyan throws Fanyi's Mother out, with Fanyi's help, and goes with the Qing lord anyway.

Lu Gui returns with DaHai to Shiping, in the East. He saved up money for a long time, and only could just make it. He is traveling North with DaHai, who has dropped out of school, and came to get Shiping to go with them. He wants to get into Fur trade. He has connections in North, from the time he went before with his friend.

Shiping is confused on what to do, she admits that she still doesn't feel that they are married and this hurts Lu Gui.

End: He confesses what his mother said, and tells the story of how she died. Shiping retreats to her room, her heart confused. The preachers wife and her that night share a bed Wink* wink*

S02E13

Hook: The PI to is in Zhou Puyan's sacred room and Fanyi shows him the picture of Shiping. He asks the PI to find out what he can about her and any living family. He also tells him the history between her and Puyan, as she knows it.

Lu Gui finally charms Shiping the right way, not with his tricks, but by saving enough money to have a proper marriage. They go to a restaurant where he cooks a feast for her, and close friends. Lu Sifeng (5) and DaHai(14) act as ring bearers and other western characters, Lu Gui re-enacts the marriage of the American Preachers he saw in the beginning of the season.

End: Fanyi vows to destroy Puyan for leaving her, for trapping her. Zhou Puyan shows hesitation for the new Qing way. For a long time his devotion is in questions, his Han background despised. Finally, his own Set Brother cuts off his pony tail and tosses it to the ground. They ride off, in a forest in the North Assassins surround and kill everyone, only Puyan survives.

Epilogue: Lu Gui and DaHai go North, Shiping goes South away from her lesbian attraction, escaping it. She takes residence at a school she will teach at.

\ Note: I've breezed through Season 2 and it's very weak. Puyan's fractured identity and growing coldness is not clear. We need moments of this. Fanyi's madness is too overt. I imagine it would be subtle, only appearing once or twice and then in the last episode it is revealed that she has been doing bad things in secret, plotting and what seems whimsical is actually a plot. We need to work this out in the day to day details. Only the major points of change are here. Shiping and Lu Gui feel more complete, but details on the touching moments are lacking. Also, I can't see any humor in Season 2, and we could pick Zz's brain for some of his thoughts on humor.*

Season 3 13 Episodes

S03E01- Northern Death/Southern Jazz

Hook: Lu Gui lays dying of a plague, he begs DaHai to leave his side and go to his mom with their money. He refuses, he's close to Lu Gui.

Sifeng gives up school for concession life.

End on Lu Dahai arrives in East and police arrest him, he is in a rush to find Shiping, so they can go save Lu Gui. They take his money.

S03E02- Edge of Tomorrow

Hook: Lu DaHai sneaks back into the city and finds Shiping. she convinces him not to do something stupid.

They travel back north for Lu Gui.

Sifeng's new job and culture. She goes to the shot and they hire her. But it becomes seedy very fast. Learns to flirt.

Lu Gui is resting and Shiping saves him, yet again. One recovered, he is offered work in town there. He decides to go down East first, and visit family.

End: **Either rape or she meets butterfly, who lets her in now, as a movie extra or during movie extra time**

S03E03- Similar People

Zhou Ping and Fanyi's lustful relationship. Zhou Ping reveals his past time in Japan, the horror and austerity of it. It's the same as Fanyi's school days.

S03E04

S03E05

S03E06

S03E07

S03E08

S03E09

S03E10

S03E11

S03E12- Act 1 & 2 of Thunderstorm Play

S03E13- Act 2 & 3 with Prologue and Epilogue of Thunderstorm Play

Okay, so DaHai and Lu Gui go East to meet family. We see Shiping has job. Lu Gui finds cooking job at butterflyies, Sifeng job in store window. Da Hai falls to mafia