Cinema Of The Week: Duke's At Komedija

As we come to end of our lockdown newsletter series, we've got one final Cinema Of The Week for you!

Take a trip to the culture-hub that is Brighton, where we have two glorious cinemas. Located on Gardner Street is Duke's at Komedija, the much younger little sister to the historic Duke of York's Picturehouse.

Opened in December 2012, this two-screen delight is perfectly placed in the upstairs portion of Brighton's well-known Komedija Comedy Club.

Local artist Jamie McCartney was commissioned to design and make a giant pair of legs to display on the exterior, inspired by those at the Duke of York's Picturehouse. Watch how these iconic cancan legs were made below.

Tickets On Sale Next Tuesday

We're busy preparing to to reopen our cinemas in England on 31 July, and we're excited to announce that tickets will be on sale next week!

Visit our website from Tuesday 28 July to see what films we'll be playing when we reopen and book your tickets for next Friday.

The Cameo in Edinburgh will not reopen on the 31 July, in line with local government restrictions. Rest assured, we'll be in touch with Cameo Members and newsletter subscribers as soon as a reopening date is confirmed.

Visit our Frequently Asked Questions to see what we're doing to help keep you and our team safe when we reopen.

Celebration Of Sundance Film Festival: London

A selection of films from the 2020 edition of the Sundance Film Festival will be available to watch from your sofas this summer, courtesy of the Celebration Of Sundance Film Festival: London. This unique digital event will take place from Friday 7 August - Sunday 9 August.

The event opens with Uncle Frank, written and directed by Alan Ball (American Beauty). The film stars Paul Bettany, Sophia Lillis and Peter Macdissi. Watch the director and the cast discuss the film in more detail in this interview on Collider.

On the 8 August, we'll be screening Luxor, directed by Zeina Durra (The Imperialists Are Still Alive!). Deadline's interview with stars Andrea Riseborough and Karim Saleh sees both actors talk about the film that changed their lives.

The celebration will close with Boys State, winner of the U.S. Grand Jury Prize: Documentary. The New York Post calls Boys State a "documentary you'll never forget". Read the full review here.

Passes are on sale now for £20. That includes access to premiere screenings of all 3 features, which will be followed by filmmaker Q&As, as well as a collection of 8 short films and two-panel events with special guests.
