

A Conscious Christmas with Abel & Cole

SHOP | THIS WEEK'S BOXES | OFFERS

It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas. That means, over in Ormskirk, West Lancashire, Dan 'Organic Dan' Gelly is coming into the busiest time of the year. He grows stalks and stalks of Brussels sprouts on his Home Farms, and as no Christmas dinner is complete without these nutty little joys, Dan's wielding his trusty machete in double-time, so no one misses out.

The self-proclaimed 'King of Brussels sprouts', Organic Dan's been farming for as long as he can remember. He practically took his first steps on his dad's farm, lending a helping hand as he grew from tot to teen. Eventually after renting a patch of land, he managed to get enough money together to buy his very own, and he's never looked back.

Dan knows the value of working with nature, and doing things slow and steady, when it comes to growing his Brussels sprouts (and all his crops, for that matter). It's a much more sustainable way to grow things', he says. Dan's Brussels have all the time in the world to soak up the nutrients from the rich, sandy loam soil, which is why they're so full of crunch and so full of flavour. A bowl of these as part of your Christmas dinner, and you'll be talking about them well into the new year.
