

We help enterprises sustain innovation through expert facilitation.

Voltage Control is an Austin-based change agency specializing in Design Sprints and Innovation Workshops, including in-person, virtual, and hybrid. We help companies perform at their best by coaching them to work better together, integrating decision-making methods. Our custom-designed workshops help teams gain alignment, co-create, make decisions quickly, develop, prototype and test solutions, and accelerate innovation. Our facilitation experts help individuals, teams, and companies build the skills they need to design magical meetings, transform meeting culture, and run exceptional events.

HOW WE CAN HELP

Accelerate Innovation

Adopt a test-and-learn mindset to rapidly generate, test, & improve opportunities. Mitigate risks using direct customer feedback.

Transform Company Culture

Cultivate a culture of experimentation and improvement & align as a team. Improve meetings to do better work together.

Build & Sustain Momentum

Build advocates across teams & organizational silos. Anticipate and respond to evolving changes to advance innovation.

OUR SERVICES

We Consult

Want us to spearhead change for you? Our innovation facilitators assess your unique needs, then kick off your new innovation journey with a series of custom-designed workshops to jumpstart your success.

We Train

Want to learn? We lead live experiential learning workshops, coaching sessions, online courses, community-building, events, and certifications to help you master professional facilitation and drive innovation.

We believe in inclusive, empathetic, and human-centered design.

“ Voltage Control helped me and my team engage with internal and external stakeholders to identify effective strategies. The collaborative relationships that began in the workshop continue to flourish ”

PAUL VICARS, US AIR FORCE