New scales have arrived, I've had a bit of a dramatic weight gain, but I am drawing a line and starting again. Diets and isolation are a massive juggling act for me. I'm not exercising at all, other than running after my son. Hoping to regain control and allocate some time for yoga and head space.

I'll take the person who works out 2x/week for a year over the person who trains 5x/week for a month, takes 3 weeks off, trains 4x/week for 2 weeks, takes 5 weeks off, trains every day for a month, then takes 2 months off.

Consistency allows you to stack success.
