In più, la ridotta disponibilità di glucosio (dovuta ad esempio ad un digiuno prolungato o a diete eccessivamente ipocaloriche) porta all'attivazione a livello epatico della gluconeogenesi. Questo processo permette di ricavare il glucosio a partire da fonti non glucidiche, come il lattato, il glicerolo o gli aminoacidi. In quest'ultimo caso, si verifica un forte catabolismo proteico a livello del tessuto muscolare per ricavare i substrati necessari a produrre glucosio, portando a perdite consistenti della massa magra. □

Wise words from Chito Vera. Setbacks come in life. I am experiencing a LOT of them lately. They come for sometimes no reason at all. But as he said, you can't move backwards. You gotta acknowledge what it was that brought the circumstances, acknowledge it, and keep pushing. If I've learned ANYTHING this year it is to not live life in the rear view mirror.
