Turinabol is only available in UG labs by the way. The pharmaceutical giant Schering acquired rights to the drug but never officially restarted production. So if you bought TBOL off an unverified UG lab and you are noticing tons of water in your gains, chances are that you got ripped with DBOL instead. Turinabol does not cause a lot of bloat.

The body needs energy to do this, and it is natural for it to take from the lean muscle tissue to generate fuel. The use of anabolic steroids such as Turinabol allow the body to switch so it burns fat and not that muscle tissue. It also offers more harness for those muscles. At the same time, Turinabol will promote more endurance and overall ...
