CAMP FOX

There's nothing like experiencing the outdoors on one of California's beautiful Channel Islands. Camp Fox on Catalina Island promises a week full of never-ending fun, just steps away from the Pacific Ocean. During this adventure, your children will find themselves enjoying sports, learning about marine life, and exploring the endless recreational water activities the island has to offer. By night, campers stay in villas and cabin, bonding with fellow peers and developing lasting friendships.

Hosted by Santa Barbara Family YMCA

Registration Opens March 2, 2020

CAMP SEQUOIA LAKE

Over 900 acres of forest surrounded by Sequoia and Kings Canyon National Parks, YMCA Camp Sequoia Lake is the perfect location to explore what nature has to offer. Campers spend a week at the lake, building confidence and friendships while hiking the National Parks, plunging into crystal-clear waters for a swim, and roasting marshmallows by the campfire. There's surely something for your camper at Camp Sequoia Lake!

Hosted by Ventura Family YMCA

YALP at Camp Fox

If your teen is looking to gain interpersonal and leadership skills, Youth Adventure Leadership Program (YALP) is a program that develops teen leaders through an overnight backpacking trip. YALP operates concurrently with Camp Fox, offering an opportunity for these emerging leaders to mentor younger campers. To join, an application and interview are required; community service hours will be granted upon completion.

Registration Opens March 2, 2020
