

TOP

Find out the top five things that our exec board is inspired by right now.

1 PERCY JACKSON While many people our age read Percy Jackson and Rick Riordan's other mythological sagas in middle school, I actually first picked up The Lightning Thief in April of last year and have been hooked ever since. I'm a sucker for getting lost in a fun and easy book, and my boy Percy and his antics check every box. They're funny, action-packed, and dusted with the addictive we're-doomed-to-die-young-but-friends-to-lovers-anyway trope (Percabeth forever). And, of course, more easy-to-love characters join the cast with every series. An escape into the world of Greek gods and Camp Half-Blood was exactly what I needed to avoid the reality of this past year.

- CRISTINA FORMICHELLI

