HERMAN ZIMMERMAN BIOGRAPHY

PARAMOUNT PICTURES' "STAR TREK" FILM AND TV PRODUCTION DESIGNER

Star Trek Earth Tour at Paramount's Great America

Friday, Sept. 2 and Saturday, Sept. 3.

Herman Zimmerman is the original production designer for Paramount Pictures' "Star Trek: The Next Generation" and Feature Films: "Star Trek V: The Final Frontier" and "Star Trek VI: The Undiscovered Country," as well as for the television series, "Deep Space Nine."

In 1993, Zimmerman headed up the original "Star Trek Earth Tour" design. Although he has contributed expertise and materials for other projects, the "Star Trek Earth Tour" is the first "Star Trek" exhibit that capitalizes fully on his "Star Trek" experience.

His movie feature, television feature and television series credits are impressive. During his career he has worked as a singer, actor, associate professor of drama, the entertainment manager of a casino, a television art director, the owner-operator of a scenic shop and finally a motion picture production designer.

As part of the "Star Trek Earth Tour" at Paramount's Great America, Herman Zimmerman will discuss his "Star Trek" experiences with guests during an exclusive question and answer session on Friday, Sept. 2 and Saturday, Sept. 3.
