Exploring Mental Wellness with WEEWAAZ

Since the pandemic hit, many of us who were prisoners of our own homes had experienced some sort of decline in mental health.

Many of us found solace in social media - not just in relatable memes and cat videos, but in works created by artists who were going through similar hardships.

They remind us that we are not alone in our struggles. That it's ok to be overwhelmed, unhappy or anxious. They remind us to stay hopeful. Weewaaaz is one of those artists.

50% of profits from this collaboration will be donated to support of Beyond Blue.

50% of profits from this collaboration will be donated to support of Beyond Blue. An Australian mental health and well-being support organisation that hopes to provide everyone, young and old, with information to recognise how depression, anxiety and suicide can affect people, and simple strategies to understand what to do if it happens to them, or someone close to them.

Harmony

$25.00

Don't let all the chaos surrounding you get you down. Here's a reminder that there's a reason behind every emotion, and each one should work in harmony to balance out the others.

Stressed

$25.00

A messy mind often leads to stress so try not to let the noise in your head affect your state of mind. You are not your thoughts. Time to think less and distress through open conversations with the communities around you.

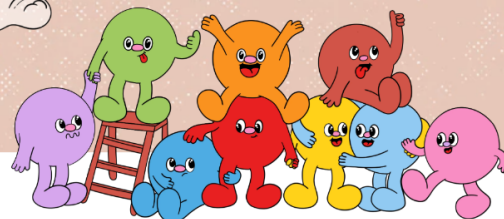

Hope

$25.00

With all that's happening around you, it's okay to feel overwhelmed. Take a deep breath and try to remember that better things are coming your way.
