When you eat the chocolate instead of the strawberries. You may feel 1 or 2 things; Satisfied in the short term and not the long term or satisfied in the short term AND the long term. This really all depends on the frequency you choose the chocolate over the strawberries. Sometimes the lessened satiation will be worth it to satisfy the craving. Do it too often however, you may end up feeling dissatisfied. In economics this is called the law of diminishing returns. That first chocolate bar is always way more satisfying than the tenth chocolate bar.
