Even if you're not a Windows user, there are numerous benefits to owning a copy of Microsoft Office 2021 for your Mac. For example, you can seamlessly import Word documents from Windows users.

In addition, you can edit Excel spreadsheets, send emails with Outlook, or even create PowerPoint slide decks. While you could use something like LibreOffice for macOS or the popular iWork suite of apps as alternatives, nothing beats the versatility of the original Microsoft Office apps for Mac.

The problem is that since Microsoft changed its business model to subscription-based, many Mac users are being forced to pay between $70 and $120 per year to use the Office 365 software. But what if there were a way to avoid paying these high monthly or annual fees? That's what we're covering in this article.

Why Buy Microsoft Office for Mac in 2021?

The key reasons here have to do with compatibility. Microsoft Office is unique because so many people use it. When you download Office 2021 for Mac, you're getting the ability to send and view documents without hiccups or conversion woes. Everyone has experienced a poor document conversion before. You open that Excel spreadsheet you thought looked so good, only to find out that the columns and rows have shifted, and now your data doesn't make sense.

Or you've tried to import a Word document into something like Pages only to have to reformat everything by hand. Maybe you've even tried one of those online converters—you know, the kind that mangles your PowerPoint deck right before your big sales meeting. These situations can cost you productivity, time, and, in some cases, money. And who wants to deal with that?

That's why Mac users need to install Microsoft Office 2021, even if they only use it occasionally. By doing so, you're preventing all these issues whenever you encounter any type of Microsoft document.

Is Microsoft Office 2021 for Mac a Better Product Than Office 2019 or Office 2016?

Honestly, the answer is yes and no. If you want the latest and greatest features, then it might be worth biting the bullet and subscribing to Microsoft 365. Just know that you'll be paying close to $100 every year that you're a subscriber. (It's even more money if you pay by the month)

But if you're not using the software every day, why worry about getting the latest features? In those cases, the lower price of an older Office for Mac version might be a more intelligent move. Consider it like buying a used car versus a new car. Both will get you to the same place; one is just a little shinier.

Where Can You Download Office 2016 and 2019 for Mac?

You might think that Microsoft's website would be the ideal place to download Office 2019 and 2016 for Mac. But, if you want to save a little extra money, we'd recommend you first check out a software reseller like Mr Key Shop before paying those high Microsoft prices. Resellers buy unsold software licenses from retailers and then sell them at a discount.

That means you can get the same quality product as you would if you purchased directly from Microsoft while paying just a little bit less.

And when it comes to software, it doesn't depreciate the way some things do. In other words, buying a copy of Microsoft Office 2019 for Mac today will get you the same Office 2019 product that Microsoft sold new in 2019. You also still get the same functions.

What to Look for in a Software Reseller

Finding the right reseller can be a difficult job. Some companies will sell you old MSDN licenses that are easily sniffed out and disabled by Microsoft. Others will try and take your money without sending you anything. The good news is we've compiled a list of what you should look for when choosing a software reseller. There are really only three things you want to make sure of here. First is going to be the company's history. How long have they been in business? Obviously, a longer history isn't the only deciding factor, but if a company has been doing business for over a decade, then you know they're probably legit.

Next, you'll need to check out third-party ratings. How many customers have they helped during the time they've been in business? What do the major independent review sites say about the company? The higher the rating, the more you can trust the retailer in most cases.

Finally, you want to make sure that any payments you make will be secure. You can't just give your credit card information out to anyone these days. You also want SSL encryption to keep your account numbers from prying eyes. Payment options like PayPal or Amazon Payments are also a sign you can trust the company you're doing business with. To use these merchant services, a company must submit specific documentation about its business before being approved.

As for resellers, our favorite is Mr. Key Shop. Mr. Key Shop has a 15-year track record and over 250,000 satisfied customers. The company also has a rating of "Excellent" on the popular rating website Trustpilot.com.

In addition, all the licenses they sell, including Microsoft Office 2021, 2019, and 2016 for Mac, are legally compliant and priced competitively. When you buy from Mr. Key Shop, you'll also enjoy instant delivery of your software purchases. And if there's a problem, you can count on the company's phenomenal customer support.
