They all started out as interns. Today they're calling the shots.

Would your company like to land the next new food R&D star? Now, thanks to a small group of committed members, RCA can show you how.

Visit the www.culinology.org/EmploymentNetwork.aspx for a blueprint to starting a Culinology® Internship Program, a practical guide to setting up a pipeline for fresh new talent. It includes a list of learning goals, an orientation schedule and suggestions for establishing roles, responsibilities and feedback.

Once your company's internship program is up and running and ready for applicants, post your internship opportunities on the RCA Employment Network page. It's FREE.
