COMPANY A MUSICAL COMEDY

NO STRINGS, GOOD TIMES, ROOM HUMS...
PHONE RINGS, DOOR CHIMES, IN COMES...

The search for love and cocktails is turned on its head, as Patti Lupone leads a newly reimagined revival of Steven Sondheim's musical, Company. Previously, the story's main character has been played as a man unsure of what he wants in life. True love seems to pale in comparison to bachelorhood, freedom, fun and the "company" of his good friends.

In a timely twist relevant for today, the lead character of Company is now a woman, surrounded by a "company" of married friends and potential suitors.

As she celebrates her 35th birthday, they show her the ups and downs of married and single life, leading her to learn more about each of them and herself along the way. Often funny and poignant, sometimes eerily familiar, Company is a story that resonates today.

Stage legend Patti Lupone once again stars as Joanne, an iconic role she has made her own once at Lincoln Center, for a critically acclaimed run in London and now, for the third time here on Broadway.

Composer Steven Sondheim is Broadway royalty, winning a Pulitzer Prize and 13 Tony Awards, including a Lifetime Achievement Award. Join us to witness how the story of this exciting, new revival is just as important today as when it won two Tony Awards during its debut in 1971.

90TH ANNIVERSARY GRAND OPENING

$450 MILLION RENOVATION & SUNDAY BRUNCH

In early 2019, New York's Museum of Modern Art closed for several months to undergo extensive renovations and make changes to its design, layout and galleries. To mark its 90th Anniversary, MoMA recently opened again, unveiling an innovative, $450 million redesign with 40,000 feet of new gallery space and a newly imagined way of showcasing art.

Just weeks after its unveiling, be one of the first to see the new galleries that will present a variety of artworks from various eras side by side, combining contemporary works with early masterpieces by Salvador Dali, Cezanne, Van Gogh and more.

Experts describe the new design as "creating a contiguous, free public realm that bridges street to street and art to city." This is a unique moment in the art scene not just in New York City, but the world. Join us to be a part of art history!

Enjoy a delicious, three-course Sunday Brunch at Il Violino.

Yogi Berra Museum

A consummate fixture of the New York Yankees baseball franchise for decades, Yogi Berra transcended the field. With his wit and wisdom, Yogi went beyond baseball to become an American icon. A child of Italian immigrants, a World War II Navy gunner who served at D-Day, a record-holding athlete, a coach, manager, husband and father, Berra came to embody the ideals he so often exemplified: respect, perseverance, sportsmanship and excellence. And he did it all with his one-of-a-kind humor while uttering his signature Yogi-Isms, which became some of the most frequently recalled sayings in American life!

Join us for a guided tour of the Yogi Berra Museum in nearby Montclair, NJ. See the special exhibits and permanent collection of photographs and artifacts that tell the story of the winningest player in baseball history and how he captured our hearts.

Liberty Hall

MADEIRA WINE TASTING

Liberty Hall stands tall as a distinguished home commissioned in 1772 by William Livingston, a signer of the US Constitution and the first governor of NJ. Liberty Hall served as the Livingston family home for decades during the Revolutionary Era.

During a recent restoration of the manor, a rare collection of 18th century Madeira wine was discovered hidden away in the wine cellar. An historic and sensational discovery, the centuries-old find has shed new light on the home's history, sparking fresh attention on Liberty Hall.

In an exciting twist, enjoy a Madeira wine tasting during a guided tour of the Hall. Experts estimate that the collection of Livingston's Madeira wine is priceless due to its age and pristine condition. While we won't open any of the vintage bottles, we will sip three different varieties of Madeira wine inside the Hall's charming carriage house.

The tasting is a unique highlight that brings to life the new history of this stately manor! Rumor has it that the wine was originally ordered to celebrate the election of America's second president, John Adams.

Before the tasting, tour the house with your expert guide, with access inside the historic bedrooms, parlors and, of course, the wine cellar! Enjoy an up-close look at the antiques and hear inspiring stories about the home's famous families and visitors. You'll even see the rose garden in peak bloom, with plants growing since the 1700s!
