

Sharon, covering CVPR? Connect with Waabi CEO

Hey Sharon,

Happy Thursday - hope you're doing well! I know when it comes to AI research, we're usually talking Cohere, but I'm actually reaching out about a different Toronto-based AI company I work with called Waabi - their CEO Raquel Urtasun is actually an initial investor in Cohere (and incredibly well known in the AI space)!

If you're going to be following the CVPR next week, I'm happy to put you in touch with Raquel to chat about some of the research she's been working on and presenting at the conference. One particular paper, UniSim, demonstrates a closed-loop evaluation of an autonomy system on safety-critical scenarios as if it were in the real world (spoiler: it's pretty groundbreaking research on training self-driving vehicles in simulation).

Let me know if you have any questions or if you're interested in connecting. Looking forward to hearing from you!

Best,
Christian