

You Don't Know Me

Chapter: 01 Rose In Trouble

She was arrested in Eno's dinner at twelve o'clock. She was eating eggs and drinking coffee. A late breakfast, not lunch. She was wet and tired after a long walk in heavy rain. All the way from the church to the edge of the town. She was not afraid at all still continuously asking the cops the reason behind arresting her.

"Why you arrested me? asked Miss. Rose.

"We need your statement" said the cops. "I already have given my statement; I've told everything I saw" said Rose. Cops told her to wait for them to reach the police station. Walking down the police station with four cops around makes her feel completely like a culprit. Her phone was continuously ringing. Cops told her to put her mobile on silent. How long it will take? asked Rose. "Our officer is waiting for you Miss. Rose, kindly this way" told the cops. They reached a room where it was dark and yet no other existence. A chair and a table in the centre with a terrifying yellow light that makes the atmosphere more mysterious. Once she was scared but told herself to stay calm. "Miss. Rose is here Officer" told the cops. Officer who was busy in writing something told her to sit. She was walking towards the chair slowly and sat down.

Officer said nothing for a minute and was continuously writing a document. "Officer would you please start taking my statement, I've to leave as soon as possible." Said Rose. Officer looked at her and was mesmerized for a moment. "I'm saying something to you officer. Aren't you listening?"

She repeated " Officer?".

"Oh I'm sorry Miss. Rose. Sorry for the inconvenience. I'm Investigator detective sergeant John David. I'll ask you some question and um ah I mean you have to answer them. He was completely confused and astonished. It's hard for me to ask these question but I have to. Rose was a little surprised and asked "What do you mean by this officer?". Well Miss. Rose you're suspected as a killer in Mr. Finn William's murder case. "

He was acting very nicely as he liked her from the first moment he saw her. "Miss. Rose Are you ok?"

She dolled up her energy that was completely lost after listening those words.

"Officer, you may take my statement again" said Rose by gathering all her courage. Officer John liked her energy and gave a satisfying smile to her and started adjusting papers to write her statement. Tell me everything you saw. "You work for CNN as a Reporter Miss. Rose Marley? Why were you at the church that day. I want to know every single detail of that day.

"I was working on a project, with one of my colleagues, we had to cover many streets in search of old age home NGO's that don't get proper funding.

After we were done with our work we were walking down the street and I left my colleague Pratt in front of King's road and I continued walking as I have to reach the church. "So you visit the church daily?" asked Officer. "No every Thursday and this was the worst Thursday visit I ever had" said Rose. She was very saddened while telling this. John can see the pain through her eyes and he was worried for her. He knew she has been trapped in a very difficult situation. He asked her where you saw the dead body?

She closed her eyes and a tear fall from her eyes. John wanted to console her but he was hopeless, he couldn't stop himself from wiping her tears but he had to control his emotion. He is an officer and it was his duty to ask in each and every aspect as he was investigating this case. Once again she gathered all her courage and started telling him everything she saw. I was praying in the church alone. I always offer my prayer when there are few or no people at all. I find it more peaceful. I heard a scream while I was praying I turned around and watched everywhere if I could see any presence. I ignored it and continued to pray. She closed her eyes and took a deep breath. Officer told her not to fear and tell everything she experienced that night. I was walking at the backyard of church when I was done praying. I saw a wallet on the ground I picked it up to find the owner of the wallet.

"You shouldn't have picked it Miss. Rose" said Mr. John this is where you made a mistake."

"I find it as a responsibility to pick it up and hand over it to its owner." Said Rose.

"The owner is dead now" said Mr. John while stabbing his hands on the table. "Why were you walking at the backyard of the church it leads to white graveyard" said Mr. John. "I visit my parents grave after my prayer every Thursday." said Rose with pain in her eyes. "Sorry to heard that." Said John

"Officer I had a glance, I saw a man coming out of the Green Cage heading towards the other way. I walked faster I wasn't getting good vibes. There was no doubt that this man was into something mysterious. I headed towards him to find what's awful happening over there. I was sure the scream I just heard in the church and this man are co-related. "you shouldn't have followed him Miss. Rose" said John.

"I'm a reporter Officer I think you're forgetting this." replied rose with raising her eyebrows. "you have told this in your McCoy connection with previous statement that you saw the dead body exactly where you saw the man. There was no other presence over there except you and the dead man. This is where your statement was suspected to be faulty and we called you for verifying it again." said Officer John.

"Officer you want to say I killed the man, why would I do that and why would I call the cops after that" rose replied angrily."

"Criminals often do that, easy way to save themselves and play victim." Said Officer John. With a slight smile on her face she stood up and walked towards his chair, "Officer I would never do that". John could see the truthfulness in her eyes. Officer was very sure and had a trust on her statement as he was very satisfied on this point as he could read her eyes clearly.

Chapter 02 The Deadly Secret
