- Experience an important part of the history of Halifax at a private reception and dinner at the hilltop Citadel, where soldiers kept watch over Nova Scotia's capital city for hundreds of years.
- Meet Acadian naturalist Alain Clavette as he shares insights about the natural heritage and unique ecology of New Brunswick, along with expert observations about the seabirds that make their homes here.
- Learn about Nova Scotia's Scottish Gaelic heritage at the Gaelic College of Celtic Arts and Crafts, dedicated to keeping its Highland culture alive, and watch a kilt-making demonstration.
- Witness a way of life that has been unchanged for centuries on Prince Edward Island when you learn about Acadian culture and lobsters aboard a cruise on Shediac Bay.

Hopewell Rocks

On a stretch of coast along the Bay of Fundy stands an array of towering sandstone rock sculptures carved by tidal erosion. At low tide you can walk on the beach and marvel at the sculptures, nicknamed "Flower Pot Rocks," up close. The rocks were cut away from the cliffs sometime in the last ice age, and Fundy's powerful, playful tides have made them works in progress ever since.

Forever Plaid

At the Gaelic College, dedicated to preserving the heritage of Scottish emigrants who settled in Nova Scotia, you can see how kilts are made, learn some Gaelic words and songs, hear traditional Cape Breton music, watch a master weaver create one-of-a-kind pieces at the loom, or a dance demonstration, or listen in at a storytelling session. You'll also learn how Gaelic traditions evolved into a Cape Breton way of life.

Green Gables

"Kindred spirits are not so rare as I used to think," says Anne Shirley, the orphan-girl-dreamer in Anne of Green Gables. Indeed, many kindred spirits visit her farmhouse on Prince Edward Island every year, drawn by the charm of Lucy Maud Montgomery's classic novel. The house that inspired Montgomery is now a well-preserved National Historic Site named Green Gables Heritage Place, where you can see for yourself why 'Ann with an E' fell in love with the island.

SEAFARING HOTELS AND LODGES

2020 Price includes 25 meals (10 Breakfasts, 6 Lunches & 9 Dinners), transfers as noted, service charges, gratuities to local guides and drivers, admission fees, taxes and portage.

Airfare is additional. The islands featured on Tauck's Canadian Maritimes trip, particularly Cape Breton Island in Nova Scotia, are some of the most scenic – yet remote – destinations in Canada. The hotels included on this trip, such as the Keltic Lodge and Liscombe Lodge, were primarily selected for their location; they put guests right in the heart of the best places to visit. Seasonal travel in the Canadian Maritimes means that a few of your accommodations on this trip will not compare to Tauck's hotels in other locations. We find – and expect you will find – that these hotels provide exceptional access to remote scenic treasures of the Maritimes, despite a few inconsistencies with the standards of other Tauck accommodations. Please go to page 27 for additional information.

Thrill to the roar and spectacle as water from four of the Great Lakes spills over the falls at a rate of 100,000 cubic feet per second. Visit charming Niagara on the Lake, noted for restored 18th and 19th century mansions, tree-lined streets, and lush gardens. "Notl" is the gateway to Ontario's wine country.

Dan and Gretchen Heald

Uniquely Tauck

- Drive the Icefields Parkway, one of the world's great scenic drives, where a catalog of thrilling Rocky Mountain landscapes unfold before you; jagged snow-capped peaks, waterfalls, glaciers, turquoise lakes, and plunging river valleys, populated by bighorn sheep, elk, and occasionally, bears.
- Enjoy lake-view guest rooms at Fairmont Chateau Lake Louise during your two-night stay.
- Local experts share their insights, including a naturalist guide who reveals the secrets of Moraine Lake and a park official who gives you an insider's look at the national parks while you're in Jasper.
- It's your choice – you have an opportunity in Jasper National Park to decide how you would like to spend a day; possibilities range from a nature tour with a wildlife interpreter to a gentle whitewater raft trip or riding the Jasper Tramway and visiting the town of Jasper.

Glacier Walk

Athabasca Glacier lies in the Columbia Icefields, the source of most of North America's fresh water. Always in motion, Athabasca Glacier is receding at a rate of 16 feet a year, but it's still a formidable force of nature, and to see it up close and walk on it is to feel its immense, elemental power. Ride an Ice Explorer onto Athabasca Glacier with a guide who will help you understand glaciers inside out; go out for a stroll, breathe in the crisp air, and if you like, fill a water bottle, straight from the source.

Moraine Lake

In 1899, explorer Walter Wilcox climbed to the top of a moraine in the Valley of the Ten Peaks and discovered a scene of intense beauty: a mystical turquoise lake set among granite peaks and woodland. He named it Moraine Lake, noting in his journal "no scene had ever given me an equal impression of inspiring solitude and rugged grandeur." The place hasn't changed since – see for yourself why Wilcox called his time there the happiest half hour of his life.

Helicopter Vistas

The first European explorer who saw the trio of peaks draped in snow called them the Three Nuns; a later, Protestant-inclined visitor decided to rename them The Three Sisters; First Nations people had names and stories to go with them; and sometimes, they're affectionately known as Faith, Hope & Charity (the three graces). Climb aboard a helicopter for a flightseeing excursion over the trio of peaks that may inspire your own naming creativity – the landscapes will remain in your mind forever (select dates view Warrior Lookout).

INSIDE-THE-PARK RESORTS

Fairmont Chateau Lake Louise

This landmark chateau sits beneath Victoria Glacier on the shores of a blue-green lake. By day, postcard perfect silhouettes of the Rockies pose in seasonal vignettes; at night, stars come out with a glittering sky show.

Fairmont Jasper Park Lodge

Village-style cedar cabins welcome you to a wilderness lodge resplendent with nature's charms and nestled along Lac Beauvert in the heart of Jasper National Park, a UNESCO World Heritage Site.

Fairmont Banff Springs

The locals call Fairmont Banff Springs, a former railroad lodge built in 1888, the "castle." From its majestic architecture to its rich history as an icon of luxurious mountain resort, the baronial hotel exudes warmth and gracious hospitality.

Whale Watching Off Provincetown

Whales were once hunted off Provincetown for their oil and ivory; now they're hunted for photo-ops, social media postings, and the rush of their awe-inspiring presence, and coastal Provincetown is still the place to find them. Cape Cod Bay is a breeding ground for North Atlantic right whales; fin and humpbacks flourish in Outer Cape waters. You can sometimes see them from shore, but our private whale watching cruise will get you up close where you can get a better picture.

The Breakers

In 1895, shipping and railroad tycoon Cornelius Vanderbilt II built himself an opulent "summer cottage" on a windy cliff top in Newport, overlooking the Atlantic. The Breakers took two years to build, with thousands of workers toiling day and night, tons of marble imported from Italy and Africa, and architectural features plundered from European castles. With 70 stunning rooms and a footprint occupying an acre, the Neo-Italian Renaissance palace is the ultimate Newport summer mansion, offering a look inside a man and his time that you won't soon forget.

“This was a great trip, perfect in every way. Even the weather was ideal. Our group of 24 was very congenial, which was especially nice for a single traveler like me.”

Ruth E. Rogers

“ We would grade this trip an A+. Our Tauck Director was fantastic and had an excellent knowledge of Southern history; she made it fun and educational – and revived my interest in the history of the South and the Civil War.

Diane Robie

Uniquely Tauck

- KEN BURNS AMERICAN JOURNEYS – Filmmaker Ken Burns offers insights and insider stories of the Civil War in filmed narratives made exclusively for Tauck.
- Enjoy dinner at 45 Bistro in Savannah's oldest hotel, The Marshall House.
- Explore the unique culture and heritage of the islands near Beaufort with a local guide.

Middleton Place

Henry Middleton, who once served as President of the Continental Congress, finished the brick mansion his father started on the family's land outside Charleston, which included a rice plantation, stables, and 800 slaves. At Middleton Place you can stroll through the oldest landscaped gardens in America and visit the impeccably preserved mansion to absorb its story, a microcosm of US history, from the Revolution to the present, told through the lives of the Middleton family and seven generations of slaves.

Moon River

In Savannah's Low Country, the center of Gullah-Geechee culture is the Pin Point community on Moon River, settled by first-generation freed slaves. Many of them came from West Africa, and the unique culture here has deep African roots. Get an intimate look at Gullah-Geechee life and history at the Pin Point Heritage Museum, housed in a former oyster and crab factory, overlooking the Sea Islands' picturesque marshlands.

Madeira Traditions

Madeira was a favorite in the South partly because heat and hot climates did not spoil the fortified wine, but actually improved it. By the 19th century, Madeira parties were de rigueur among Savannah's sophisticated social elites, where special decanters, glasses, and the correct ways to use them were signs of breeding and refinement. Savannah's Madeira customs still survive at the Davenport House, where you'll attend a Madeira party, learn its elegant traditions, and imbibe a little history.

GRACIOUS HOTELS

The Perry Lane Hotel

Surrounded by live oak trees draped in Spanish moss and the indigenous allure of antebellum architecture, it is an oasis in Savannah. From a rooftop pool to a cozy library, the hotel's gracious ambiance is the perfect focal point for your three-night stay.

Enjoy a private tour (with lunch) at The Mount, beloved author Edith Wharton's splendid country house and gardens in Lenox, Massachusetts, built to her own design and specifications "on a slope overlooking the dark waters and densely wooded shore of Laurel Lake," where she spent the happiest years of her life. The house is one of the few National Historic Landmarks dedicated to women.

How's The Weather Up There?

Admire the views from the summit of Mt. Washington – the top of New England – and meet the resident meteorologists at the Mt. Washington Observatory, who will brief you on their work in this unique environment, known as the windiest place on earth. Gain further insights at the Weather Discovery Center's interactive exhibits, which can simulate winter weather at the "Rockpile" for summer visitors.

Uniquely Tauck

- KEN BURNS AMERICAN JOURNEYS – Filmed narratives by Ken Burns and Dayton Duncan, made exclusively for Tauck, offer compelling stories of the people who fought to create our national parks.
- Take a float trip down the Snake River with an expert guide; panoramas of the magnificent Teton Range unfold as your guide offers insights on the wildlife and history of the area.
- Learn all about the rodeo when you watch bull and bronco riders and roping artistry at the Cody Nite Rodeo in Cody, Wyoming, “Rodeo Capital of the World”; begun as an homage to Buffalo Bill Cody, the annual event runs June – August.
- Saddle up and ride with the cowboys at the TA Guest Ranch, a working cattle ranch in Wyoming to the east of the Bighorn Mountains that was once a battleground in the Johnston County War; history and legends are everywhere at the ranch and on the range.

Arts of the West

Get a close-up look at works by artists whose images helped shape the West in the public’s imagination – like Thomas Moran, Albert Bierstadt, Charles M. Russell, N.C. Wyeth, Joseph Henry Sharp, and Frederic Remington on your visit to the Whitney Western Art Museum, part of the Buffalo Bill Center of the West in Cody. In addition to over 7,000 masterpieces of western art, the museum also features a recreation of Remington’s studio, and Sharp’s original cabin, brought here from the Crow reservation.

Familiar Faces

As envisioned by the South Dakota historian who first thought of carving monumental sculptures out of the Black Hills, the memorial would have featured western heroes like Lewis & Clark, Chief Red Cloud and Buffalo Bill. But sculptor Gutzon Borglum favored a national monument to national heroes – so on your visit, you’ll see the faces of presidents Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt at Mount Rushmore. Borglum believed that the presidents would attract more national interest. And since the monument draws two million visitors each year, he appears to have been right.

Yellowstone was even more amazing than we had envisaged; the geysers and landscapes were extraordinary and almost looked prehistoric – you almost expected to see a dinosaur walk around the corner.

Lynette Edwards

Uniquely Tauck

- KEN BURNS AMERICAN JOURNEYS – Filmed narratives by Ken Burns and Dayton Duncan, made exclusively for Tauck, offer compelling stories of the people who fought to create our national parks, which Wallace Stegner, “Dean of Western Writers,” called “America’s Best Idea”
- Take a flightseeing trip over Lake Powell and some of Glen Canyon’s most amazing features, including Rainbow Bridge, the world’s largest natural bridge, as tall as the Statue of Liberty
- As day becomes twilight, toast the spectacular canyon-studded landscapes of Lake Powell aboard a private yacht dinner cruise – your evening begins with champagne
- Spend a night at a lodge on the South Rim of the Grand Canyon and hear an exclusive lecture by a local expert on the five distinct ecosystems that thrive inside the canyon, and exist together nowhere else in North America

Colorado River Float Trip

Glen Canyon unfolds on a guided float trip down the Colorado River, where you'll drift through a desert world of towering red cliffs and mountains carved by wind and water, inhabited by wildcats, coyotes, and bighorn sheep, and hear tales of the dinosaurs, explorers, ancient tribes, and prospectors that roamed here before you.

Slot Passages

Explore a mystical slot canyon on a guided tour along its twisting, undulating passages, carved through rock by flash floods. A slot canyon begins with a crack in a mountain wall; water leaks in, then more water, until eventually floods cut through the sandstone with the force of a river, leaving the shape of the water behind on the stone. Slot canyons are breathtaking environments illuminated by beams and stripes of sunlight, highly photogenic and awe-inspiring. Located in the Navajo Nation, they are not easily accessible, but we'll get you there.

Hoodoos in Bryce Canyon

Encounter hoodoos in Bryce Canyon's alien landscape of strange and mesmerizing rock formations, some of them human-sized, some towering hundreds of feet high. Pushed up by volcanic forces and carved out of soft rock by water, wind, and ice, the eerie spires, towers, and rock totem poles are also called fairy chimneys – but hoodoo (an African word for “magic”) is the name preferred, because they tend to stop you in your tracks and leave you spellbound.

STAY INSIDE THE NATIONAL PARKS

Kachina Lodge

Grand Canyon National Park, AZ

Ideally located just steps from the South Rim of the Grand Canyon, thrill to a majestic sunset – or awaken early to catch an awesome sunrise.

The Lodge at Bryce Canyon

Bryce Canyon National Park, UT

This rustic-style 1920s lodge is nestled in a forest of ponderosa pines, surrounded by the famed red rock formations the park is known for.

Zion Lodge

Zion National Park, UT

Designed by national park architect Gilbert Stanley Underwood in the 1920s and beautifully restored in 1990 with the look of a classic rustic inn.

Uniquely Tauck

- Embark on a Tundra Wilderness Tour deep in the wilds of Denali National Park, through alpine tundra and mountain passes, picturesque habitats for moose, caribou, wolves, and grizzlies.
- Adventure awaits on calls to ports including Haines, Skagway, Juneau and Ketchikan on a 7-night Alaska cruise aboard Grand, Coral, Royal or Pacific Princess.
- Meet sled dogs and puppies at the Husky Homestead in Denali National Park.
- Go back to the 19th-century Yukon Gold Rush days with visits to the once rough-and-tumble towns of Skagway and Ketchikan, and a thrilling mountain rail ride on the White Pass & Yukon Route.
- The bald eagle has been a spiritual symbol for Alaska's indigenous people for thousands of years, and you can see them in their native habitat on a float trip through Chilkat Bald Eagle Preserve.

Flightsee Denali

Words will fail to describe your eagle's eye view of Denali on a flightseeing trip with an experienced bush pilot. The view over Denali National Park encompasses untamed wilderness, glaciers, valleys, tundra, and glacier-fed rivers, then the mountain, 20,000 feet high, dwarfs your imagination of it. Some call it Mount McKinley, but First Nation people simply call it "The High One," believing that men are too small to have such places named after them.

Totem Art

The art of totem-pole carving had a renaissance during the 19th century when wealth from the fur trade enabled First Nation artists to focus on their work, creating tall, breathtaking monuments steeped in the symbolism of their tribes and clans. Many poles were left behind when times changed and the Native Americans abandoned their villages. But you'll find an astonishing collection at the Saxman Native Village in Ketchikan, where you can see carvers at work, and performances of Tlingit and Haida dances.

Whale Watching

Set out from Juneau on a quest to spot the magnificent whales that frequent the waters here. The star of this private whale watching cruise is of course the humpback whale, but be on the lookout for bald eagles, dolphins, sea lions, and orcas. Humpbacks usually come up for air every 10 or 15 minutes, and are famous as "the acrobats of the ocean" for their breaching, rolling, and flipper-and-tail-splashing antics; you may get wet, but the thrill is well worth it.

GRAND, CORAL, ROYAL & PACIFIC PRINCESS SHIPS

These Princess ships are featured on Grand Alaska as noted in the cruise departure dates. Aboard each, staterooms include a flat-screen TV, hair dryer, safe, phone, private bathroom with shower, refrigerator, and 24-hour room service. Each ship offers a 24-hour Internet Café, a Lotus Spa®, hot tubs, a fitness center, and pools. Entertainment aboard ship includes Movies Under the Stars® showing first-run feature-length films; a theatre for live performances by musicians, singers and dancers; a casino; themed bars, lounges and nightclub-style entertainment. Tauck "Anytime Dining" aboard ship gives you freedom and flexibility about when and where you dine.

Ann and John Yockey

Uniquely Tauck

- Stroll through the Kona Coffee Living History Farm on the Big Island of Hawaii, which tells the story of Kona's coffee pioneers during the early 20th century. Discover the secrets to growing one of the world's finest gourmet coffees; visit the original 1920s farmhouse; and meet the Kona Nightingales, donkeys that were shared between farmers, used as transportation, hauling coffee, and were famous for their braying.
- Get acquainted with Hawaiian cuisine at a hands-on gourmet cooking demonstration by a chef at a popular restaurant on Maui; you'll also attend a traditional luau, where the culinary specialties come with music and dance.
- Drift into the sunset aboard a catamaran cruising along the Kohala Coast, where elegant resorts, golf courses, and state parks perch on rocky cliffs punctuated by palms and soft sand beaches; the water is every shade of blue, and the sky puts on a fiery show.

Ride in a Canoe Built for Ocean Waves

Outrigger canoes are an important part of Hawaii's ancient Polynesian – and contemporary – heritage. Originally used for fishing, war, travel, and commerce, today outrigger canoe paddling is a state sport – and a fun one too as you will learn when you climb aboard and push off Waikiki Beach for a ride out in the ocean.

Royal After Hours

Enjoy a private after-hours reception and dinner at Iolani Palace in Honolulu, just for Tauck guests; restored with a large Hawaiian koa wood staircase and decorative objects from all over the world, the lavish residence was once the royal palace of Hawaiian kings and queens, the site of Queen Liliuokalani's infamous imprisonment – and it is the only royal palace in the United States.

Ascend the Volcano

The view near the top of Mount Haleakala is, as Mark Twain wrote, “the sublimest spectacle I ever witnessed, the memory of which will remain with me always.” The island's namesake, the demigod Maui, warned the sun to stop racing across the sky – and you might think it moves too fast still. But there are consolations. The sights you may see here, from high-altitude hairy silversword plants to Nene (the local goose) to rainforests and streams, might include a rainbow too.

OCEANFRONT RESORTS

The Royal Hawaiian

Built in 1927, the “Pink Palace of the Pacific” is a Honolulu landmark of luxury with panoramic views of Diamond Head, Waikiki Beach and the Pacific Ocean; the hotel has two pools and a private beach.

Fairmont Orchid, Hawaii

Featuring a secluded sugar-white beach on the Kohala Coast, a spa with private outdoor venues and rooms with private lanais, the resort offers ocean views and activities on both sea and land.

Grand Hyatt Kauai Resort & Spa

Lush grounds, a beachfront setting and rooms with large private lanais welcome you to this garden resort, offering both saltwater swimming lagoons and freshwater outdoor pools.
