Having empty pockets has never felt so good

Breaking news: there's a chic alternative to overloading your pockets with essentials. The Lola bag by Burberry will carry around just about everything you need to get you through the day – and with a twist of punk rebellion to boot. Most of us run a list before we leave the house: Keys? Check. Wallet? Check. Phone? Already in hand. But today, the amount we need to carry around with us seems to be ever growing. As a result, the humble pocket is no longer enough. Enter the Lola, a bag big on storage but compact enough for your commute (or night on the town). Sporting a crossbody chain strap, leather-lined interior with multiple compartments – as well as front slip and back zip pockets – the Lola makes a strong case for a spot in your spring wardrobe. Made from butter-smooth, quilted leather (an interpretation of the iconic Burberry check) and featuring the TB logo, this bag is bold enough to transform any suit but with the subtlety to get you through the train doors in time. Consider the Burberry Lola bag your SS20 superpower.
