

Keep your workforce productive with self-service Chromebooks

Grab-and-Go Services by SHI is a self-service program designed to let your employees quickly pick up a Chromebook and get to work in seconds – keeping your organization productive without the need for IT assistance.

How it Works

Self-Service

Centrally located racks of fully charged Chromebooks are readily available to borrow by any employee with a business account.

Quick Sign-in

Your employees sign-in to the Chromebook, and the appropriate company management policies are immediately applied on startup. Thanks to Chrome Sync, all of the employee's bookmarks, passwords, extensions, history, and personal settings are there – users can pick up right where they left off!

Effortless Return

When finished, the employee simply logs out and places the device back on the Grab-and-Go shelf. No resets or imaging are required because Chrome OS encrypts individual user profiles by default, and data is wiped at the end of each session.

24/7 Access

Because there is no check-in/out process or need for assistance from the IT department at any stage, devices are readily accessible for employees at any time.

Grab-and-Go Benefits

Boost employee productivity due to increased autonomy and reduced reliance on a single device

Decrease troubleshooting and down time

Simplify onboarding process for IT administrators

Utilize Chrome's built-in features, which enable inter-device functionality with their cloud-native OS

Resolve inventory issues, freeing time to focus on larger business goals
