

Politics Summary

1. Supreme Court Reformation: A suggested reordering of the Supreme Court Justices so that a balance is established as follows: Three conservative justices, three liberal justices, and three justices that are moderates. The Chief Justice is to be picked from the three moderates. This is a permanent format so that when any one of the justices passes away or retires that their replacement must be of the same category. When Supreme Court Justice passes away, then there will be a new election for that position from the then three moderate justices.

2. It's All a Matter of Recalling: Because of the extreme polarization of the Federal Government, which results in an imbalance and paralysis such that it is too difficult for the two parties to reasonably compromise so that the people are served in a timely manner, it is suggested that the Political Recall Protocol be brought into play for any elected official who fails to demonstrate the willingness and ability to seek that compromise which promotes the health and welfare of all citizens.
