

About Us: Lavky

Welcome to Lavky. We are a US-based company, enthusiastic about collectibles from ex-USSR countries. Why Lavky? Lavky is 'small bridges' in Czech. Before we lose you, we are not getting architectural here, (unless of course architectural models and bridges are part of our collectibles). We are Lavky because we are the bridge between 2 groups of people that love Russian and Ukrainian collectibles like we do – the sellers and buyers. In Russian, Lavky also means 'small kiosks' or 'small tents' usually found in flea-markets.

Lavky is, in essence, a marketplace. We are very considerate. We do not charge our vendors a dime [thus buying items from them is cheap]. We have made it so easy for them to list their items. We protect you the buyer too. We screen the sellers thoroughly. We have bought from them for years, and they have won our trust. They know what we always look for.

Why trust us?

We ensure safety - we screen our vendors and verify them

We do not charge our vendors a dime

Listing items is easy

Affordable prices

You can find handmade vintage items

You will not find vintage Lavky items anywhere else

We have connections to the best collectors and handmasters in Russia and Ukraine

We are enthusiastic about collectibles from ex-USSR countries, just like you are. We want to share this excitement with you. That is why we built this great platform to allow for an exchange of these vintage, timeless items. We make it easy for you, the vendor, and you, the seller. A win-win? Better still, you cannot find items from our collectibles anywhere. Our vendors only list on Lavky. Does it get any better than affordable prices? Handmade items?
