ABOUT THE BRAND

From interning at Christian Lacroix at 16 to her role as Chloé's Creative Director, Stella McCartney made a name for herself in the fashion industry well before the launch of her own brand in 2001. Since its inception, McCartney has remained dedicated to sustainability and taken an ethically minded design approach—never using leather, feathers, skin or fur in any of her pieces. Today, the brand is renowned for its bold, feminine ready-to-wear and accessories, as well as its foray into menswear, kids' clothing and fragrances.
