Through May, when you dine at Rally for Restaurants, you'll also have the opportunity to contribute to the Electric City Connection, a partnership between The University of Scranton, Scranton Tomorrow, and Friends of the Poor that supports Scranton restaurants and City residents facing food insecurity during COVID-19. To learn more, check out our blog.

Rally for Restaurants is an initiative created by Lackawanna College in partnership with The City of Scranton and Scranton Tomorrow. The program pairs local chefs with Lackawanna College culinary students to host fine dining events on select dates at the College's student-operated restaurant, 409 on Adams. All proceeds benefit participating restaurants facing economic challenges during COVID-19.
