Gmail - Our veggie and holiday guides are here!

While we are all about the treviso, radicchio and endive right now, we've got to give dates a shout out for being so dang good this season.

Date Cocoa Boobies

When you get a hankering for something that's sweet but not too indulgent, whip up a batch of these date cocoa boobies. And yes, we are calling these tasties "boobies" because there are enough balls in the world. Besides, they're best eaten as delicious, chocolately pairs.

Chickpea-Stuffed Endive Bites

Is it a salad? An hors d'oeuvre? A quick lunch? It's whatever you want it to be! Creamy, crunchy, and bitter, these bite-sized babies are way good, and you definitely won't eat just one.

Two playlists in one month? Look out queens, because we came to boogie. Check out our Harvest Queen Mixtape No. 5 for a list of the tunes that helped us get through a pandemic, an election, and everything else 2020 threw our way.

And if you simply haven't had enough of Queen Mariah Carey's amazingly-ridiculous "Christmas" vocals, then pop on over to our Harvest Queen Holiday mix.

HQ Holiday Gift Guides

We put together not one, but TWO holiday gift guides. The first is a curated list of 10 items (all of which we would love to receive ourselves *wink wink, nudge nudge*) that are either under $50, made in the Bay, or from a woman-owned business. And our second holiday list is a DIY gift guide for when you (oops) forgot to get your Great Aunt Margaret something.
