

Soulful escape: Corporate day out near Bengaluru

Life gets busy - deadlines and routine tasks can quickly lead to burnout.

Businesses are always seeking effective ways to motivate employees. Traditional closed space is not the best option if you want to strengthen team bonding and ignite creativity. To break the boredom of daily routine, fresh air and natural surroundings work magically. Once your team spends time in gorgeous natural surroundings, you will see a transition in work, team bonding, and creativity.

Samruddhi Orchards is a lovely family-operated farmstay close to Bangalore. This contemporary-designed farmstay encompasses acres of lush agricultural land home to a variety of fruits, thoughtfully designed spaces, and attractive open areas.

If you are an HR, a manager, or a founder of a startup who is planning a farmstay retreat near Bangalore, Samruddhi Orchards is the perfect destination for office outings and work location.

Step away from your daily routine and immerse yourself in the beautiful nature.

Step away from the rush, and connect with nature. There is something magical about being outdoors in nature, away from traffic and rush. Conversations flow easily, and the gorgeous outdoors brings people closer.

Explore the lush green organic orchard and contemporary farmhouse when you enter the farmstay. Why should you consider a relaxing day out at the resort?

Corporate outings have real, tangible benefits that go beyond just “a nice view,”

- Work around nature for a creativity boost: The farmstay allows you to spend time under the open sky. Unplug and immerse in nature. Research has shown that natural surroundings can enhance cognitive function and boost creativity. Moving away from daily office settings refreshes the mind, improves health, and creativity. Open spaces at the orchards will allow your team to breathe in fresh air. Take a morning walk, enjoy the sunset, and feel the gorgeous nature around you. Important sessions can be conducted under the sky - spark new ideas, facilitate out-of-the-box thinking, and strengthen team bonding.
- Improve team collaboration: Team bonding is one of the major benefits of day outings. Activities like working outdoors, spending the weekend amidst nature, lead to strong work relationships. Employees think differently when they are outdoors and leverage their problem-solving skills to find solutions.
- Reduce stress

- When did you get a chance to relax? Work-related stress can take a toll on mental health. A retreat helps employees step away from their daily routine and unplug. Simply spending a few hours under the sun can recharge the body and offer various benefits to mental and physical health.
- Enhance communication
- Clear and effective communication is essential for a successful team. A day out allows employees to talk freely away from cubicles or traditional office settings. They get comfortable with each other and collaborate better. Work towards a similar goal and understand the importance of collaboration and team bonding.
