

Goodbye Poem to My Very Special 4th Grade Class

2019-2020

I miss you all, and even though there's Zoom,
I can't see you in the halls or in our classroom.
It's really weird...but at the same time,
It's an experience you're learning from
One day at a time.

You are strong! Yes, YOU are.
You've already made it so far.
Keep taking breaks and getting outside to play.
We will have school in person again one day.

Let's take a moment to celebrate our time together.
In Fall, Winter, and the start of Spring weather.
(Well, okay, you're right, Spring was still really cold!)
You were always so insightful and bold. :)

While all of you showed great talents and skills
In many areas like music, sports, or math drills,
I have some memories I'd like to highlight below.
Clap for each other to let your appreciation show!

Gillian and Michelle, scientists extraordinaire,
Went above and beyond with researching fires, storms in water and air.

Jayden was a math game champ who beat me every time!
Whether it was addition or subtraction, he got to the finish line.

Lenny was a leader who set a good example,
Excelled at math and art (and occasionally laughed at a fart).

Christina was a leader who showed academic and athletic strengths.
She even dunked baskets in our invented recess game.

Bethany was a classroom helper and artist fine
Who made colorful pictures and creative Rig-ama-jig designs.

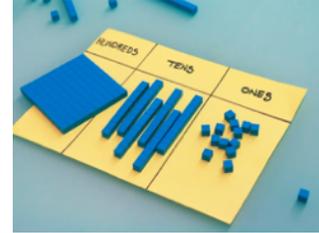

Ava was our 'reliable rock' the class could count on
To be there for others and help them with a smile on.

Caleb read cool novels that took him to high heights.
Then he let his true leader out. I'm so happy, I could shout!

Luke has a work ethic of steel and tells us, "Never give up.
You get it when you practice. It isn't just luck."

Ryan had great ideas for students and teachers.
He bravely volunteered for at-the-board features.

Melanie was a 'partial products pro.'
Her demonstrations on the board showed she was 'in the know.'

Charlotte was crafty and may open a business someday.
Her math skills also took off and they'll help her on her way.

Peyton had Multiplication Mania and got extra problems solved.
She also liked to help out and volunteered to get involved.

Megan was amazing at designing a Minecraft castle.
She also could beat me in any break-dancing battle!

Last but not least, we have our Bridge Builders: Allison and Isabel.
They brought different people together so peer relationships grew well.

Oh, and one more thing, in case he's famous one day...
Let's all remember as we head into summer,
This is the school year that Patrick became a drummer.

My dear class, I will miss you so.
Have a wonderful summer!
Don't get low. It may look different than summers you're used to,
But you are clever, innovative, and fun.
I know you'll try new things and play in the sun.
Wear sunscreen or a hat and drink lots of water.
Spend time with your family and rest in the shade.

CONGRATULATIONS! You're heading to 5th Grade!!!

Love,
Miss Zyhowski
