

Page Name: Flea and Tick

Fleas & Ticks # of Uses→ 5

Tick Control # of Uses→ 4

Flea Control # of Uses→ 4

Total Keyword Count: 13

Total Word Count: 399

Protect your Pet and Home from Fleas & Ticks with Tick Control and Flea Control Products

The health, happiness and overall well-being of your favorite furry friends entails their protection from fleas, ticks, mites and other insects that can cause them discomfort and harm. Every responsible pet parent understands the significance of utilizing proper flea and tick control products in order to protect their pets and homes from the infestation of dangerous fleas & ticks. In addition to severe itching and irritation, fleas & ticks cause harmful conditions such as Lyme disease, Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever, Flea Allergy Dermatitis (FAD), and Ehrlichiosis. Proper flea control is important as fleas also cause the ingestion of tapeworms, which can be extremely harmful when left untreated. Meanwhile, administering effective tick control and prevention is just as necessary as ticks can cause your beloved pets to be anemic, extremely weak, or both. This underscores why tick and flea control products must be used regularly, in and around your home, and on your pets to prevent infestations from occurring.

Whether you have a litter of curious kitties or a pair of playful pups, you have a great need for using effective flea and tick control. From monthly flea and tick drops, tablets and spot treatments to flea dips, shampoos, collars and flea combs, there is an assortment of products available designed to prevent the spread of fleas & ticks on your precious pets. Eliminating these harmful parasites from your home, pet's bedding and housing is just as important, which is why there are many flea control products specifically formulated for in-home use, such as room foggers and vacuum treatments. There are also powders and crystals for carpet and furniture, sprays that effectively eliminate fleas & ticks, flea eggs and larvae, and other insects, as well as special flea-repelling bed inserts.

You can also prevent the spread of fleas & ticks outside your home with sprays and mists that have been specially formulated for the safe use on yards, gardens and even dog kennels and houses. In addition to effective tick control and prevention products, there are tools available that have been designed for the safe and effective removal of ticks and ear mites. The proper and regular use of tick and flea control products can decrease your chances of an infestation from occurring, meanwhile increasing your chances of having a healthy and happy pet.