

COMPROMISE - GRAY BRACELET

Compromise, if not the spice of life, is its solidity. It is what makes nations great and marriages happy.

~Chinua Achebe

The art of compromise is a series of delicate movements that involves both reaching a place of agreement that fosters the sustainability of everything you hold near and dear to your heart without sacrificing your authenticity—and authenticity is highly emphasized in this unique piece. The soft gray tones of the limited edition Czech glass beads give this bracelet an earthy appeal that can be worn as is or paired with our “Harmony” and “Grounded” bracelets to add some color and texture. The lolite stone detailing gives Compromise its decorative quality and adds a hint of light that not only enhances the neutral tone of the beads, but also the tone of your skin. This handmade bracelet translates beautifully into a bohemian wardrobe and adds simplicity to intricate patterns and fabrics with a lot of movement.

WISH - PINK BRACELET

“Be the change you wish to see in the world”.

~Mahatma Gandhi

We often wish to make changes in the world through external efforts, but to see true everlasting change—one must make changes internally. Change starts on the inside and there’s no better way to exude all the love and hope that you wish for a better world than to wrap yourself in the beauty of the Wish bracelet. This handcrafted piece displays a delicate arrangement of pink hues that adds an undeniable softness for those days when you just want to connect with that feminine energy. The Swarovski Crystal bead gives this bracelet a girlish charm—while the sterling silver accent and adjustable chain adds a stylish component that allows you wear it in a variety of ways. All the love, hope, and change that you wish for begins with you. Click here to shop for a good cause!

PATIENCE - AGATE NECKLACE

“Patience is bitter, but the fruit is sweet”.

~Aristotle

Life can be filled with a series of delays—which often come up when it’s something that we desire the most. While we can’t hurry the process, we can adopt a state of mind that draws from calmness when we’re struggling to master the art of waiting—and the Patience necklace is a beautiful reminder. The beads are made of Agate, one of the oldest stones in recorded history that possess powerful healing properties that are said to attract strength, protect from stress and energy drains, and change your level of acceptance of emotion. The black and silver accents give this necklace an element of dazzle—making it the perfect accessory for work days and date nights. Good things come to those who wait and no one deserves fruit of their labor more than you do. Celebrate all the goodness in life and shop now!
