

Chronicle

NEW FEATURE

ETERNALISE BEST MEMORIES OF YOUR LOVED ONES: TRY LIFE CHRONICLE TODAY

In the memories of the living, those who are gone continue to live on. The stories of our grandparents who witnessed historic moments. Memorable images of family vacation decades ago. Or the remembrance of little sweet things about our beloved relatives and friends. But memories fade and younger generations lose track of their predecessors. So many memories are forgotten forever as years passed and times changed. Grandchildren visit the graves of their late grandparents with almost no background story. Now what if you can save the best memories of your loved ones before they are lost in time, and sync them right to their final resting places?

Chronicle

We are glad to present you Life Chronicle, a new feature in our cemetery software that enables you to upload the life stories of your deceased family members or friends. More than just online memorials and obituaries, we link them to actual graves in our online cemetery map, so that everyone can easily access these memories while paying a visit to the cemetery.

Imagine this: you visit your grandmother's grave. You can't recall much of her life because she had passed away when you were still so little. But then you click on her interment in our online cemetery map and find a heartfelt note written by her friend in high school. It describes how she was a such bright student with a penchant for chemistry and biology. She helped her team in designing the award-winning science fair project. You can even read a school magazine clipping about it. It's like you find a window to peek into the previously unknown life of your grandmother, and now you realize where you get your passion for scientific discoveries from.

Life Chronicle accumulates precious recollections of the deceased and share them to public, allowing everyone to discover the previously unknown lives and legacies of their loved ones as they visit the cemetery. At a highly affordable price, it is very easy to participate.

We invite you to join us in expanding this online library of memories for our loved ones. Together we document personal memories that otherwise would be vanished forever. Open your dusty photo albums, scan their faces, and write down the most unforgettable moments you shared with them. Dig up the yellowish newspaper and collect every old article mentioning their names. You will never know how many relatives, friends, and strangers will thank you in the future for every detail you provide. Let the world know your memories of the people you care about, which can be a priceless inheritance for generations to come.

