

Yes. Apply money.

Greed is the driver through which capitalism creates our standard of living. Our opportunity and the American dream are all thanks to that five (5) later words.

This doesn't mean you should be Greedy

But use it to your advantage.

Money is just something you need in case you don't die tomorrow.

Remember, money is fun. Money is good.

But it's not everything. There are bigger things in life.

This is what we are all after. Money is sought because it saves you time and discomfort. Get riches, so you can have time and freedom. It's better than just being rich.

Your losses will teach you more lesson than your wins, so get acquainted with this. The market makes learners of all of us. Try to invest long enough and you know that everyone is wrong sometimes. The amateurs. The professionals. The market makes learners of everyone. Keep learning.

There are no shortcuts. Money itself isn't lost or made. It's only transferred from one perception to the other; "you rent and your house payments is another person's income.

The moment you are able to think about money this way, it will totally switch your mindset.

Information is the difference between making money and losing it.

It's the magic that separates trading and gambling. Do research. Get to know what you are investing in. That's how you make informed decisions. Still apply money.
