

5 WAYS TO DECORATE YOUR HOME WITH

Floral Wallpaper

Not everyone has a green thumb.

But there are plenty of simple, subtle and stylish ways to incorporate plant life and floral beauty into your life — and home — with wallpaper.

Why it works for you

Floral wallpaper offers a fresh yet personal way to infuse your interiors with a touch of Mother Nature.

Whether your home is country chic or modern minimalist, floral wallpaper adds just the right amount of organic appeal.

For an easy DIY project, start small, like with a half bath.

Contrast a bright white sink and fixtures with a dark-colored wallpaper decorated lightly with bright floral patterns. White or painted moulding will help the florals pop.

To further enhance its organic effect, add a potted plant to your bathroom décor.

Bedroom

Bring a touch of romance into a master bedroom by hanging wallpaper with bold floral patterns.

The bolder the better.

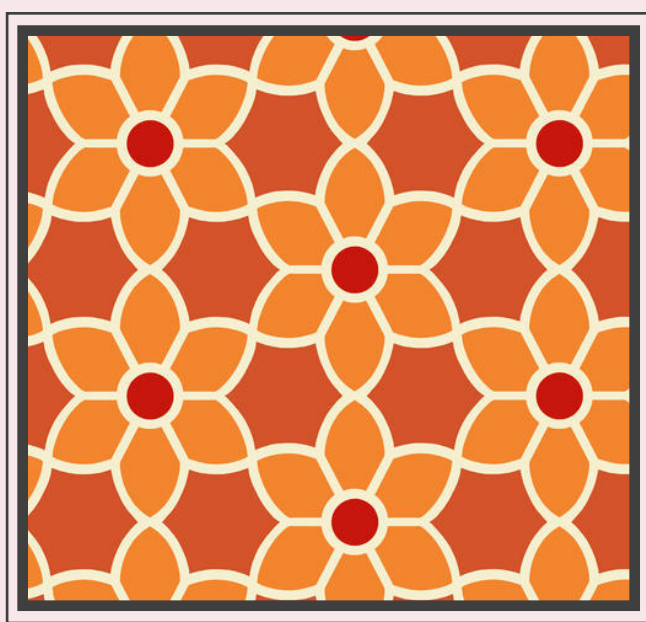

To prevent bold wallpaper from overpowering your room, try a wallpaper border instead. Then, paint the bottom half a solid color that'll complement the wallpaper print.

You can also enrich the wallpaper design with a floral comforter or add a couple floral throw pillows to complete your new room décor.

While bright and bold designs inspire creativity in country kitchens, floral wallpaper elevates the look of a modern kitchen filled with metallic and stone surfaces.

To protect your wallpaper, add 4-inch plastic sheeting between the upper and lower cabinets, behind sinks and stoves, and even beneath microwaves.

Then, hang pictures of colorful plants that contrast with your floral wallpaper to make the pictures really pop.

Entryway

Invite visitors into your home by adding floral wallpaper to your entryway or small hallway.

If you want wallpaper to stand out without being overwhelming, choose one with colorful roses or wild flowers on a single color background that matches the floors and furniture.

If you'd like the wallpaper to be the focal point, choose a floral pattern with a single color background that contrasts with nearby wall colors or wood paneling.

You can enhance the rustic charm of your home by hanging shelves with reclaimed wood. Add tables or stands with woven baskets to hold gloves and hats, and finish with a floral print inside an antiqued wooden frame.

Liven up your living room by wallpapering the largest wall. The wall near your sofa or other showstopper furniture is best.

Make the wallpaper pop by matching key colors to the couch or furniture.

Add a floral picture or a painting that highlights the wallpaper print.
