Finlay Elizabeth is one of our newest arrivals. This precious bundle of love is a perfect example of our commitment to what we call "Your Miracle, Your Way." Finlay's mom Ashley wanted a natural birth, but she also wanted the flexibility to change her mind if she needed pain relief.

"I feel very blessed by our experience with St. Anthony North Health Campus. The labor and delivery team was gentle, understanding, patient and truly giving. I really felt heard and taken care of." -Finlay's mom - Ashley Ashley is grateful to Dr. Bhavani Chillara of CHPG Women's Health for her attentive prenatal care and her partner Dr. Jennifer Cooper for safely delivering Finlay. We'd like to introduce you to Luxe-Oliver. We consider his safe arrival in our birth center a true blessing. Luxe was born in the same room his sister Piper-Mercedes was delivered in a year ago on July 4th. Piper-Mercedes was just 10 days old when a bacterial infection attacked her that resulted in heart failure.

Dr. Tracy Jones and Dr. Michael Plotnick of CHPG Women's Health brought Piper-Mercedes into this world. When they learned Bethany (mom of Piper-Mercedes and Luxe-Oliver) was expecting again, they were determined to provide her with the best care possible. Bethany went into labor a week before her C-section was scheduled. Dr. Jones was at the birth center when Bethany arrived and Dr. Plotnick rushed to the campus to assist.

"It was amazing, but also scary and nerve wracking. I felt good and safe knowing they were both there. They made the experience exactly as it should be. It was actually very calm. It had been a extremely hard year, so when Luxe-Oliver was born, it felt just like a miracle. I had Piper-Mercedes in that same room and now I had another baby in my arms. It was the most perfectly imperfect moment. They took such good care of me and my little family."

Kane Carter has Texas roots, but this little boy is a Denver baby. Just to make sure there wasn't a doubt, he was born in the 303 area code at 3:03 in the evening.

Dr. Bhavani Chillara and Dr. Laura Lindholm of CHPG Women's Health cared for his mother through a difficult pregnancy and delivery. Three months before Kane's due date, his mother was diagnosed with gestational diabetes. She spent three days in the birth center with contractions waiting for active labor to start.

"I was given a choice. Dr. Chillara could break my water or I could come back in a few days. I wasn't leaving without my baby, so I chose to have my water broken and that's when the real contractions started. I went into this knowing I could possibly have a C-section because of the gestational diabetes, so I wasn't dead set on a natural birth, but it was nerve wracking. I was started to have anxiety, but then I made a connection with Dr. Laura Lindholm, also a former Texan. She let me know throughout the surgery that everything was going well. When Kane was delivered she told me, 'Oh, he's a little linebacker.'" Kane's mother – Mallery

Mallery says she felt more like a friend than a patient during her recovery. When, she celebrated her own birthday two days after Kane's birth, the nurses brought her cheesecake and sang Happy Birthday.
