

CAITLIN BARDSLEY CV

SKILLS

My skills range from teamwork, communication, reliability, time management plus more. All of these are skills I use in my everyday life whether that's in work or just in general.

OBJECTIVE

My objective is to gain more experience in the fashion field of Journalism.

EXPERIENCE

Customer Assistant | Vue | 2018-2019 & 2021-2022

In college I worked for Vue cinema for a year. Here there were a range of rolls from serving customers to cleaning. At times this was a fast-paced roll, especially on weekends or when a popular release came out. There were problems which needed quick thinking to sort out. There were times you were on your own and had to use your own initiative to figure out how to solve it. Time management was a big skill here and you had to serve quick so people wouldn't miss their food. Always being prepared for a rush prevented falling behind. I went to university and decided to go back to Vue, but this time in Leeds. Just like the previous time I was doing the same thing, but this was a quieter cinema, but that didn't stop problems from still arising.

Writer | Northern Life Magazine | March-May

For work experience I went to Northern Life Magazine when I was thrown in the deep end, which I was thankful for. Here I written articles, interviewed people which was out of my comfort zone and transcribed interviews. Working here was a fast-paced environment and you had to always hit the deadline, so it could be ready for the next issue and you could be ready for your next assignment.

VOLUNTEER EXPERIENCE OR LEADERSHIP

When I was in high school, I did work experience at my old primary school. Here I helped the kids with their work and in general just supervised.

In high school, I also did Bronze Duke of Edinburgh. This was out of my comfort zone, so I knew I had to do it. As we were on our own, I had to take leadership and study the map so we could get to the campsite

Creative media and film studies | 2016-2019 |
Manchester College

In college I did film. Here I learnt the ins and outs of film making. I had the chance to create my own work by myself as well as in groups. Being in front of the camera, I had to be comfortable and have confidence which is something I gained over time. I could have just done a 2-year course, but I opted for the 3 year, as film was something I wanted to learn more about and not just dive in the deep end.

Me and a few others had the opportunity to work with 20th Century Fox where we had to come up with ideas on how we could promote the film 'Love Simon.' People from other colleges up and down the country also got the opportunity to do this. We had a week so come up with an idea and present it to representatives of 20th Century Fox. It was a great opportunity to be able to do this and it gave me the boost of confidence I needed.

Journalism | 2019-2022 | Leeds Beckett University

I attended Leeds Beckett University doing Journalism. Here I had the opportunity to explore different fields of journalism. This ranged from: tv newscasts, radio newscasts, magazine newscasts. Here I also learnt how to do shorthand. I also had the chance in my final year to create a magazine from scratch. This helped me decide what field of journalism I wanted to go into once I graduated.

before nightfall. Whilst it was tough, it was still an experience that I appreciate.
