From the CEO

"One of my main points of emphasis as CEO is for us each to embrace a mindset of abundance and create our own opportunities. Having the confidence to try new things, even when you fail, helps you learn and grow into an even stronger individual. As you explore BKD Life, you'll notice a common theme: colleagues who stepped out of their comfort zone to follow their passion, often creating greater successes for themselves, the firm, or the community. I'm consistently impressed by the ways BKDs show up as leaders in and out of the office and encourage their teammates to reach new personal and professional heights, an essential component of our firm's culture. I hope you'll enjoy these stories and celebrate with me the breadth of skills and enthusiasm held throughout BKD."

– CEO Tom Watson
