

Grade 12A-St. John the Evangelist

Topic: Online class setup for students

Main Argument	Effects of online setup for students
Pros	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Self-improvement - Flexibility - Time management - Reduce costs
Cons	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Cheating - Plagiarism - Without face-to-face interaction - Loads of work - Mental health
Refutation	Even though the cons of online setup is attracting students, we should have or set a goal for ourselves to prioritize our future. Since online class setup will not last, we should not tolerate ourselves to cheat. Because at the end of the day, only ourselves will attain our aspirations.
Conclusion	Online class setup is difficult for teachers and students. Mostly, teachers preferred normal classes or face-to-face learning to easily guide their students. Since the pandemic started, the online class has been implemented for schools, universities, and colleges. The main point of this argument is to know the positive and negative effects of online class setup. Students have various techniques to achieve their goals. To attain their aspirations, they need to do a set of techniques to pass their school works and assessments. Suddenly, students are tempted to cheat quizzes and examinations or plagiarize their written works to receive high grades. At last, to refuse the issue of negative effects and raise the positive effects of online class setup. This will gain the importance of values and enhance self-development.

1. What is the main argument presented in the essay you have chosen?

The main argument presented above is the positive and negative effects online setup for students. Students' hardwork is a positive action that can lead to success. On the other hand, negative effects of online class may lead to achievement, yet not fulfilling. It means a person who cheat is glad for his or her grades, however he is not unsure for his or her future.

2. What cons and pros were presented enumerate?

These are the pros presented in the table above: firstly, the online class will imply the students' self-improvement for their individual tasks. Secondly, the online class helps students to be more flexible such as hanging around with their family and spending time on their hobbies and school works. Lastly, since students are not commuting from school to their house or vice versa, they lessen their worries, enhance time management, and reduce costs.

On the other hand, these are the cons presented in the table: firstly, cheating is commonly put into online classes since Google and other apps are easy to search. Secondly, plagiarism, more likely cheating, is getting ideas from another person without his or her credit or permission. Thirdly, due to the fact that online classes is no interaction with your classmates, it affects students' performance. Human interaction is needed for everyone to feel the willingness and love so that it will not lose the hope and motivation in doing school works. Lastly, loads of works keep lack of interest of students to their tasks. Loads of works can trigger stress and worries.

3. How did the writer conclude the text?

I conclude by summarizing or getting the main point of the text. By obtaining the answers of main argument, cons, pros, and refutation, I earned ideas to give own explanations.