

November 28, 2021

Dear my friend,

Hi, how have you been these days? It has been a couple of years since our solid bonding. I remembered our last conversation regarding your 18th birthday- including the theme, gown, cake, invitees, and your celebrity crush. Sadly, we could not bond together due to our busy schedule and strict parents. Also, we did not meet at my pool party last week because of your loads of school works. I already miss our late-night talks and deep conversation every class.

By the way, do you do well in your online class and at home? I heard that you stopped studying last school year due to your anxieties and worries. I know that you are having a hard time thinking about your future course and career, but please don't be afraid to step forward. It is truly hard to step backward because at the end of the day; you will be disappointed with the opportunity that you did not grab. But as long as you know that you are happy and contented, I will support you. I hope during those times that you feel so down and unmotivated to continue your journey; you will remember that I am here to listen and cheer you up. Like we used to do before, let us solve together each problem that we have. Do you also remember the movie that we watched together? Do you remember our favorite line of Patrick Verona? He said that don't let anyone ever, make you feel like you don't deserve what you want, go for it! It is similar to you because you deserve to be loved, happy, and the best things in this world.

These are the following lines that will be cheesy for you, but please read, okay? I will stay as your human handkerchief that is ready to wipe your tears whenever you are afraid, sad, and angry. Also, I am prepared to be your human pillow that you will lean on whenever you have secrets, rants, and problems. Not that someone who is like a shadow that will follow you from your shining career and brightness hours, but will leave you from your darkest moment.

Our friendship started; when we were in grade 9, but look at those pictures and Instagram stories that will make your mood ecstatic. Thank you for staying by my side through my ups and downs. As a return for your kindness, I will listen to your rants, accompany you with your amusing antics, and stay with you like your sister and best friend. Please write me back and let's hang out soon. I super love you! I miss you already! I will always pray for you and your family's safety and health.

From your dearest best friend,

Rea Vianica