

Celebrating Julie Henningfield

Julie consistently delivers on presale projects despite presale's high demands. She works late and weekends. She pulls content from the client even when they provide her with little to start with. We have been successful in earning Anthem new business in large part to Julie's ability to be quick and flexible. She is relied upon to deliver on our largest, most complex projects. Our most recent large project, NYS, is a bid for 1.1 million members. She's already put us in position to succeed.
