Why capsules are better than pills?

Capsules are widely used supplements because they are easy-to-swallow and break down quickly in the stomach, although not to the point that there is any nutritional advantage. Vegetarian capsules are a gelatin free alternative for consumers who are hesitant to consume meat by-products, like gelatin. Some people like that capsules can be opened for the use of all or part of its powdered contents, i.e., mixing the nutrients in a drink or a meal. That can be an advantage for children or others, who have difficulty in swallowing the pills.

Whereas, tablets tend to be more rigid and solidified. Large tablets can be hard for some people to swallow and do not offer flexibility of dosing like capsules.
