aiwake and Saen have joined forces on their new lead single 'Faded Patterns.' This is the first single to their collaborative #99000a EP.

Effortlessly timeless, 'Faded Patterns' grips listeners into a compelling vocal dream state. The deeply passionate lyrics elegantly glide atop a pop-infused production, laced with somber synth work and a poignant kick. Within this maudlin soundscape, aiwake and Saen create a touching composition, as 'Faded Patterns' is a moment's gaze into the honest soul.

Behind 'Faded Patterns'

"The title 'Faded Patterns' is both literal and expressive. It's a series of smooth and abrasive textures that create moving patterns underneath nostalgic lyrics. Faded patterns sneak in and out, bringing you back to old habits and feelings you hoped you forgot." - Saen.

"'Faded Patterns' is a projection of gritty cinematic pop. It is remembering something you have yet to experience; the extension of an emotion that is already gone. It displays motions over repetitions, nostalgic textures waiting to be defined." - aiwake

About aiwake:

Haunting vocals, gritty dissonance, and uplifting downtempo - these are the worlds that aiwake has begun to blend. The project first experienced some commercial success in mid-2017 when the first two singles 'Birds' and 'Childish' were taken seriously across streaming platforms.

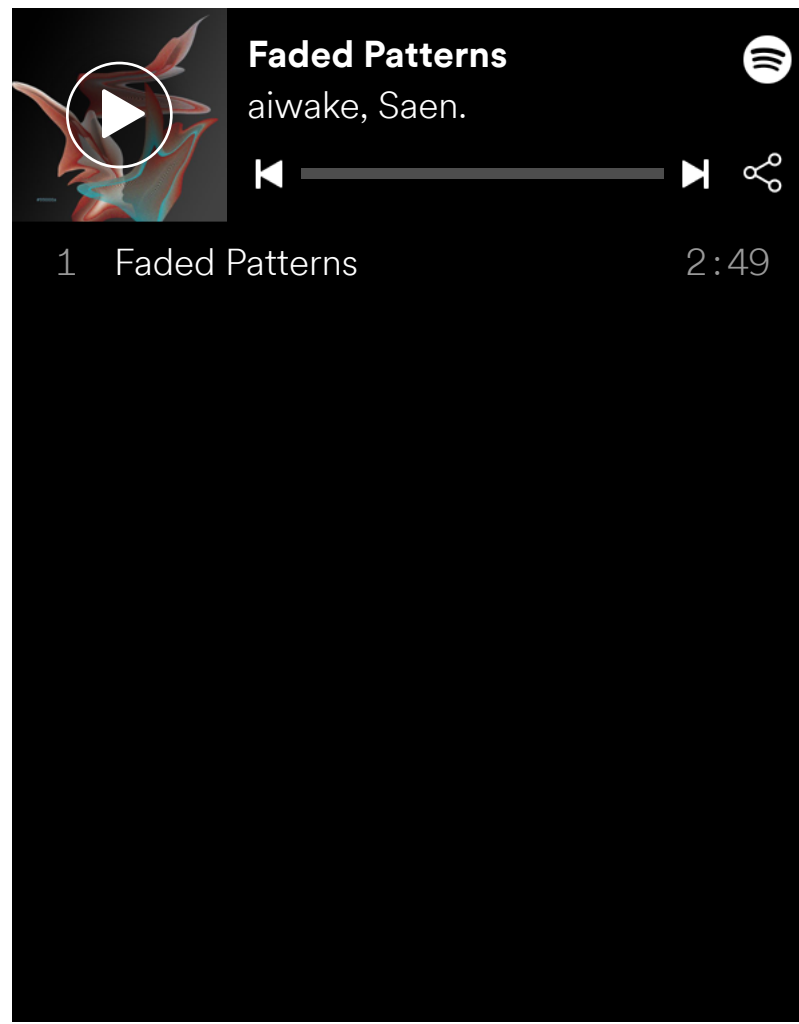

Playlisted across the board, the second single even cracked the US Viral 50 chart on Spotify. 'Crescent Lane' followed in early 2018 and signing with Majestic Casual happened not long after. Above all, 'Palm City' and 'Tonight (Sundown)' received positive interest and appeared on major playlists. (such as Today's chill on Apple music, or Spotify Fresh Finds). The year 2019 was concluded by the release of two remixes: Hazey Eyes & Panama - Emotion (aiwake remix), followed by Instupendo - Pinch (aiwake remix).

About Saen:

Seth Henriquez and Matt Allen are producers, sound designers, and vocalists classically trained in piano and cello. Known for creating ethereal yet potent electronic music, their sound lands in abrasive textures, moody ballads, and driving grooves. Their live show combines analog synths, cello, piano, drum pads, and foley, giving fans an immersive and cinematic experience.

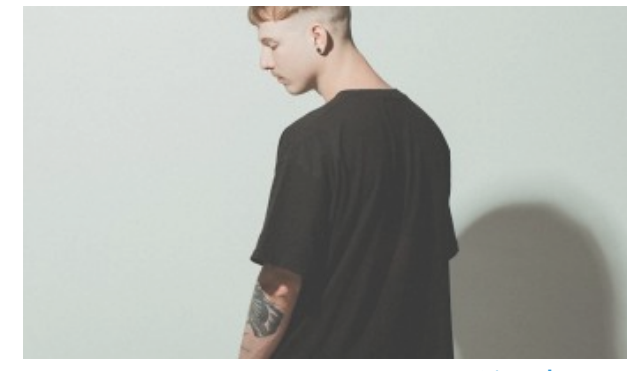

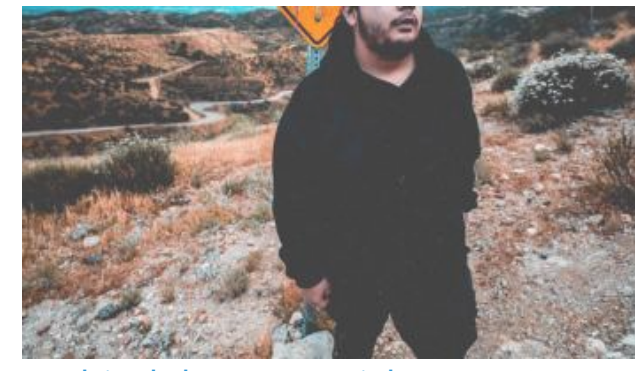

Saen.'s most recent single, "know you", garnered over 5 million streams after peaking at #11 on the Spotify US Viral 50, #7 in Canada, and #29 in Australia. Following #99000a, Saen will be delivering their full-length solo debut.
