CloZee drops new track "Air" featuring Sauvane. "Air" is the second track to be released from her upcoming LP Neon Jungle which is due in full on July 3rd.

French producer Chloé Herry (familiarily known as CloZee) is a purveyor of lucid sounds and a worldly and rhythmic figure in the electronic music atmosphere. Last month CloZee delivered the first single "Winter is Coming" off her upcoming LP, Neon Jungle. Once again, CloZee has blessed our ears with Neon Jungle's sophomore track "Air". It's safe to say that CloZee has an unmatched talent. Her music delivers unique unifying energy.

CloZee provides the intimate, rhythmic, and nurturing side of contemporary bass music. "Air" is a narcotic gem that stands as a testimony to her artistic breadth. Furthermore, the melodic beat mixed with Sauvane's vocals soothes the mind and soul. This track is the perfect counterpart to "Winter Is Coming."

CloZee brings creativity prompted by the mystifying nature of painting, dreams, and even changes in weather. She explores the universes of art that reach far beyond the realm of sound and music. CloZee also recently linked up with her close-collaborator Opiuo on their joint single "Bam Bam". Prepared to beam into the horizon with her artistic ingenuity and refined musical flair, Chloé Herry is ready.

CloZee on "Air"

"When Sauvane and I wrote 'Air' 6 months ago, we never thought it would come out during such a pivotal and important moment for our world and history. The song is about earth, asking human to be respectful, to be loving and caring towards each other and towards their own planet or we risk to see it burn. This song is dedicated to all the brave people who are fighting in the name of justice & love, and battling against the pandemics our world is facing right this very moment."
