There's been a lot of conversation over the years about the under-representation of female producers in the electronic dance music industry. While the majority is still mostly male, female dubstep producers have been on the rise coming in hot and heavy.

Usually, when you go to a show it's at a venue, right? At least that's what you think... it's the short moments after Lucii takes the stage when you will realize you are not in Kansas anymore.

Zia And Sippy

Zia and Sippy are the two adorable bass buds who just concluded their debut US Deviate Tour. It's safe to say that we will be seeing more of these two in the future.

ZIA (z-eye-uh) is the Philadelphia producer who has many great things ahead of her. She has that perfect mix of heavyweight dubs and weird dark wubs.

Sippy is the bass queen straight out of Australia. Sippy is a machine when it comes to producing. Her unique bass-forward sound is addicting.

Vampa is one of her own kind. This Chicago born artist found her passion for EDM a couple of years ago during her college career. She has that deep bass sound that will hit you to your core.
